

House Hears Pleas For Cut, Boost in Foreign Aid Funds

Senate Expected to Get Bill Favored by Committee

Washington —AP— A $3,384,500,000 foreign aid money bill faced a tug-of-war in the house today between groups wanting to cut it more and to increase it.

The bill's total already has been cut $790 million below President Eisenhower's requests.

Advance indications were that the measure would go to the senate late today or tomorrow in substantially the form recommended by the house appropriations committee.

The committee imposed the cuts last Monday, despite a last-minute protest by the president that the action would "jeopardize our own security and the defense of the free world."

The bill finances for the fiscal year starting July 1 the mutual assistance program designed to bolster friendly nations and to contain the spread of communism.

Republicans supporting the president's position lined up behind amendments to put back half of the $400 million cut from the president's request for $2 billion for direct military assistance, and to restore 50 million of the 75 million cut from defense support funds.

They weren't counting on much help from the Democrats but were confident the senate would put back into the bill all or some of the money denied by the house committee.

On the other side of the picture, some members contended that the funds recommended by the committee were excessive. In this group were some Republicans considering resort to a technicality that could automatically knock out another estimated $50 million.

That amount represents a carryover of unobligated money from previous appropriations which the president requested and the committee approved. A single objection could eliminate the carryover money, which includes about $35 million in direct military assistance funds.

Parcel Post Rate Increase Upheld

Washington —AP— The U.S. Court of Appeals today upheld an $88 million yearly increase in parcel post rates which went into effect Feb. 1.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield put the increased rates into effect after receiving authorization to do so from the interstate commerce commission.

Unlike all other postal rates, which congress must fix, the law provides for the postmaster general to change parcel post rates after getting approval of the ICC.

The increased rates were challenged by the Parcel Post Association, Inc., and some large users of fourth class mail as parcel post is known officially.

Cuba to Expel 2 American Officials

Havana —AP— The Cuban government today accused two U.S. embassy officials of "conspiring with a group of counter-revolutionists" and ordered their immediate expulsion from Cuba.

U.S. Ambassador Philip Bonsal promptly protested.

Bomb Report Delays Train

Hiawatha Arrives in Milwaukee About 2 Hours Late

Milwaukee —AP— The Milwaukee Road's Hiawatha passenger train arrived in Milwaukee about two hours behind schedule from Chicago early today after a bomb scare telephoned to local police.

City police and Milwaukee Road and Northwestern Railway police investigated but found no bomb.

"I have a tip for you," a young voice, apparently male, told the police telephone operator at the safety building at 9:30 a.m. "Some juveniles are planning to explode a bomb along the tracks at Chase Avenue. I don't know where. This is just a tip for you."

The caller refused to identify himself.

Police were dispatched to the Chase Avenue overpass on Milwaukee's south side but could find nothing amiss.

The Hiawatha, Train No. 1, was scheduled to leave Chicago at 11 p.m. and arrive in Milwaukee at 12:25 a.m. However, it left about one half hour late and arrived here about two hours behind schedule.

2 Men Die, 19 Hurt In Nebraska Storms

Omaha —AP— Late spring storms ripped through a wide area of Nebraska, killing two men and injuring at least 19 other persons last night.

There were tornadoes, winds of 60 to 80 miles an hour, hail and heavy rains in central, south central and eastern Nebraska.

Superbooster Success

Saturn-T Passes First Tests, Von Braun Says

BY JACK STILLMAN Huntsville, Ala. —AP— Saturn's superbooster has passed its first series of tests with flying colors, say Dr. Werner von Braun, Saturn project director.

The last in the series of tests, static, or tied-down tests, was held yesterday at the Marshall space flight center.

The next series is scheduled to begin in August and will be continued up to the time of the actual launching at Cape Canaveral, Fla., in 1961, Von Braun said.

"We have learned enough about fundamentals from this series. The next series will be the last before we fly the booster," he said.

Saturn-T, the booster now being tested, will not be flown. This honor will go to Saturn-I, now being assembled at the space center. A third booster also is being assembled.

Senate Striving to Speed Defense Bill

May Work Late Tonight to Take Many Roll Call Votes

Washington —AP— The senate stepped up its push toward adjournment today with a $40 billion defense money bill only one of several matters to be considered.

With the normal noon opening hour advanced to mid-morning, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the assistant senate Democratic leader, said members might be asked to stay late tonight "with numerous roll call votes."

In addition to the huge defense appropriation bill, senate leaders scheduled action to ratify a new security treaty with Japan and a start on a $1,400,000,000 omnibus housing bill.

Proxmire Forces Defense Bill Delay

Washington —AP— Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.), insisting aircraft carriers for the navy have been obsolete for years, has blocked plans for quick senate action on a $40 billion defense bill.

"It's ridiculous to spend all these millions on a conventional carrier when these became obsolete years ago," Proxmire said Wednesday. "The house knocked out these funds and I think the senate should do the same."

Proxmire's action torpedoed a request by Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas) to limit debate on the military appropriation, the biggest annual money bill.

The booster is the first stage of the planned multi-stage Saturn space vehicle—this nation's brightest hope to put heavy payloads into space.

Yesterday's 122-second test was the longest of the series, seven of which were eight-engine firings.

The test produced about 1,300,000 pounds thrust, the most intended in a static firing.

Scientists said they had never planned to fire the booster for its full duration of 24 minutes which would produce 1,500,000 pounds thrust—the maximum.

This additional thrust, however, will be needed for the kickoff in a full launching to get the entire vehicle aloft—including 580 tons of hardware and fuel, plus a payload of between 25,000 and 50,000 pounds.

Agrees to Suggestion By Premier

BY GENE KRAMER

Tokyo —AP— President Eisenhower's good will visit to Japan was canceled today under the threat of communist violence. The U.S.-Japanese defense treaty still was in danger.

The pact becomes law automatically Sunday unless Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi can be forced to dissolve parliament before then. The communist-led mobs have two more days in which to try to bring about the downfall of the Kishi government and void the treaty.

In announcing the Eisenhower trip is off, Kishi told reporters:

"Even if there is the slightest bit of doubt about the president's safety in Japan, it makes it inappropriate for him to visit at this time."

Eisenhower, in Manila, regretfully agreed. Like Kishi, he blamed Tokyo's left wing turmoil on a small group of communist agitators. He had been here Sunday.

Even as Kishi urged Japan to fight communist mob violence, thousands of left wing demonstrators marched out.

Russia to Take Arms Proposals To UN Assembly

Geneva —AP— The Soviet Union is expected to turn to the fall session of the U.N. General assembly as the next arena in which to press Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's revised plan for total disarmament.

This was the view of western officials at the stalemate 10-nation disarmament conference in the wake of their rejection of the main provision of Khrushchev's proposals.

U.S. Ambassador Frederick M. Eaton turned thumbs down on the Soviet plan to start world disarmament by banning vehicles for delivering nuclear bombs and abolishing all foreign military bases.

Eaton said this would give the Soviet Union unquestioned military superiority in Europe and would leave the smaller, non-communist nations of Europe "at the mercy of their larger eastern neighbor."

Pledges Philippines U.S. Aid if Attacked

Ike's Aides Relieved Over Cancellation of Tokyo Trip

BY JOHN SCALI

Manila —AP— President Eisenhower wound up his visit here tonight by pledging the United States to defend the Philippines instantly against any armed attack. The promise scored a diplomatic success to match his personal triumph.

Along with gratitude for Eisenhower's affectionate welcome here, his aides displayed relief at cancellation of his trip to Japan.

In a final communique with President Carlos P. Garcia, Eisenhower pledged that any attack on this former American colony "would be instantly repelled."

This was what Philippine leaders have been wanting as a major gain from Eisenhower's 21-day visit. These islands lie only an hour's jet flight from communist China and are firmly allied with the west. Filipino officials wanted U. S. defense pledges outlined in black and white to put Peiping on notice.

"This makes our cups brim over," said one Filipino official.

The president continued to be the object of popular acclaim and affection in the Philippines. He appeared unconcerned about cancellation of his Japanese visit.

Revising Schedule The trip had been planned to start Sunday. Press Sec. James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower's schedule will be revised aboard the cruiser St. Paul as the presidential party

At midnight more than 17,000 Douglas workers began to return to work at the firm's Long Beach, Calif., plant.

Earlier — at midnight in Florida—300 Convair machinists settled a 9-day-old strike at Cape Canaveral. The IAM said that action, however, was contingent on company withdrawal of a clause to permit layoffs regardless of seniority.

Still out are 10,000 Lockheed workers at missile plants in California—including the firm's Sunnyvale missile and space headquarters, where violence erupted yesterday soon after a strike started.

Still negotiating are 26,000 Convair workers in two unions. Threatening to strike are another 18,000 Douglas workers at two other southern California plants.

U.S. Smacked With Humiliating Defeat

Collapse of Eisenhower Trip To Japan Brings Victory of Proportion to Communists

Washington — (AP) — The United States suffered a humiliating and costly defeat today in the collapse of President Eisenhower's scheduled visit to Tokyo.

The Soviet-Chinese communist bloc won a victory of menacing proportions.

It was the second time in exactly a month that a great international event has gone against the wishes of Eisenhower and along lines charted by the international communist leadership. At Paris May and his British and French 16 Soviet Premier Nikita S. allies to survey the wreckage Khrushchev killed the big four of their hopes for some summit conference in its first meeting, leaving Eisenhower

Japan Affair May Stall Pact Ratification

Johnson Indicates Money Bills Now Will Get Priority

Washington — (AP) — Postponement of President Eisenhower's visit to Japan raised prospects today that senate ratification of the new U.S.-Japanese security treaty may be delayed until action is completed on urgent pending bills.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, told a reporter the big defense money bill and a federal pay raise bill had priority over the treaty. He explained that both are hurry-up measures this near the end of the session because the money bill has to go to conference with the house to consider changes and the pay raise faces the possibility of a veto which would require further congressional action.

While Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) of the senate foreign relations committee had been anxious to have the treaty ratified today in advance of the president's visit to Tokyo, the deferral of the trip removed that urgency.

To Be Fitted In Fulbright said today that he still feels the treaty should be acted on speedily, but Johnson has not made a firm commitment as to the timing. Johnson told a newsman that consideration of the treaty would have to be fitted in with the other legislation.

Before the presidential visit to Tokyo was called off Fulbright had predicted overwhelming senate ratification of the treaty.

In view of the Japanese developments, growing out of riotous demonstrations against the pact, there were some indications U.S. action might be held up to see what Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi's government will do.

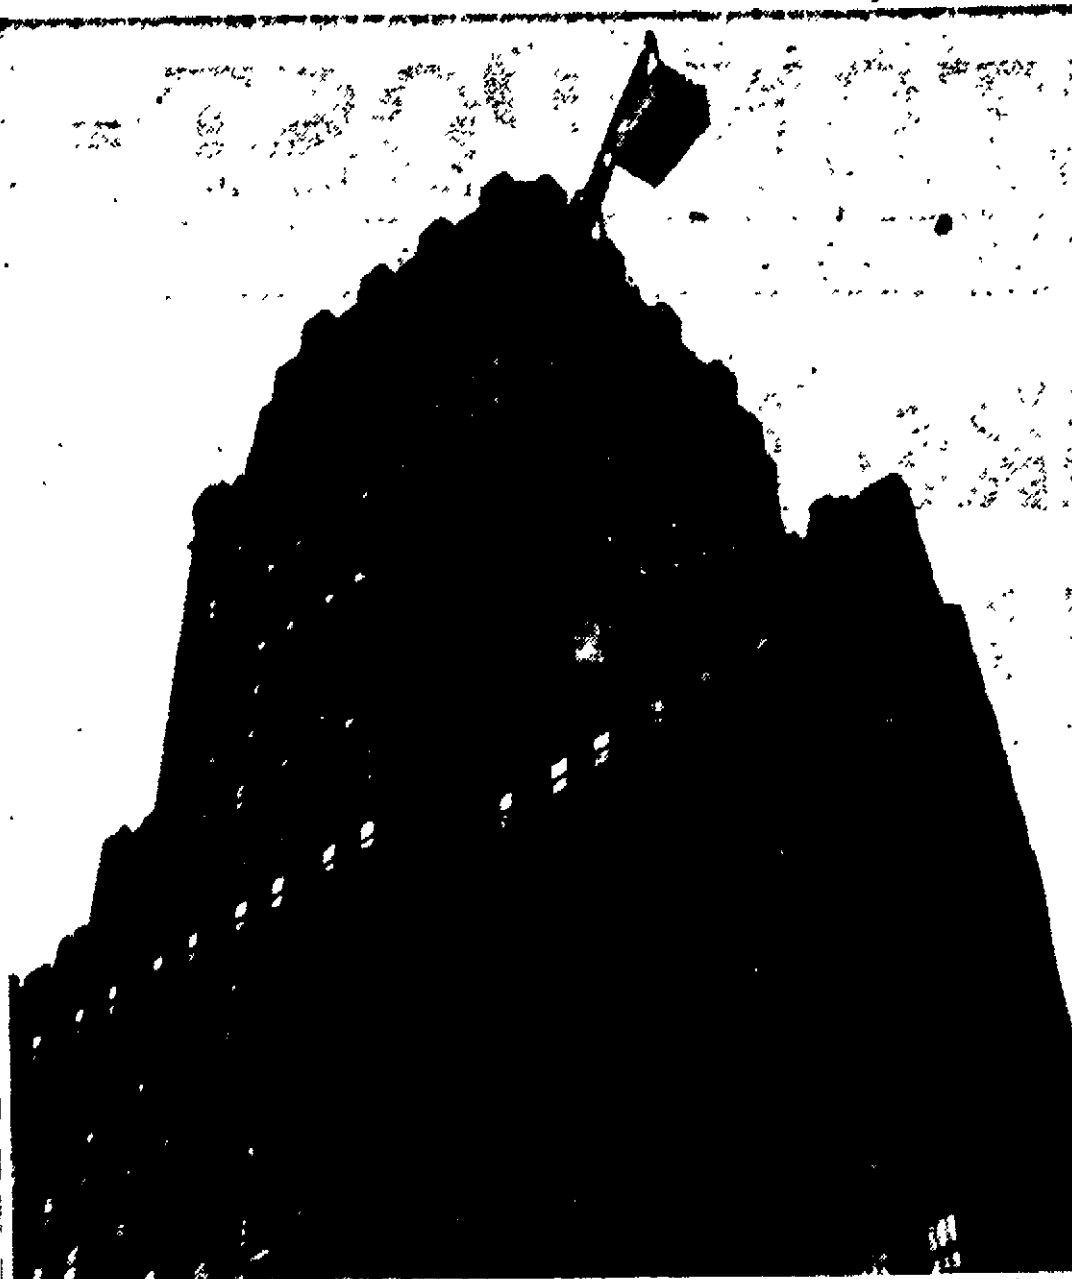

However, Kishi served notice he would press for immediate Japanese ratification of the treaty, which becomes automatic Sunday unless the parliament is dissolved or recessed.

Prison Guard Sought in $103,000 Theft at Bank

Part Time Watchman Disappears at Same Time as Currency Shipment

Needham, Mass. — (AP) — A substitute guard at the Correction Commission George F. McGrath said Hicks has no criminal record, not even a court appearance for a traffic violation. Until he failed to report for work Monday night and again Tuesday night, he had been known as a dependable employee at the prison.

Thoroughly Checked "He was considered reliable," said William F. Peters, vice president and treasurer of the bank. "He had been checked thoroughly by Pinkerton, the state and by us. He was a coast guard veteran and seemed to be a quiet family man."

The money, in $100, $50 and smaller denominations, was missed at 4 p.m. Fifteen minutes earlier, a U.S. Trucking company armored car crew had dumped a currency shipment from the federal reserve bank of Boston on the vault floor. The delivery included a 2-foot canvas bag containing bills for the branch's large check-cashing business on Thursday and Friday, and two bags of coins.

When the armored car made its delivery, Hicks was sweeping out the offices, part of his duty, as he waited for the vault to be closed for the night, normally at 4 or 4:30 p.m. No one noticed anything suspicious.

Anyone taking anything from the vault would have had to walk in sight of other employees for about 10 feet before turning into a corridor leading to a rear door and a parking lot.

Fish May be Raised in Space Ship

Eugene, Ore. — (AP) — A research team has found that it would be possible to raise food fish aboard space ships, feeding them on materials produced from body wastes.

The fish would grow in water already being used to raise algae or seaweed and no great increase in volume or weight would be involved. However, the engineering aspects of the project have not yet been worked out.

The experiment was reported to the Ecological Society of America Tuesday by Dr. Frieda B. Traub of the University of Washington.

Dr. Traub and her associates began more than a year ago to raise a species of African mouth-breeder in a tank already producing chlorella, a type of algae which produces large quantities of oxygen as well as a type of protein which can be used as human or animal food. Light provides the energy for making the algae grow.

The African mouth-breeder is raised widely in ponds fertilized with human or animal waste matter, and is a food item in some parts of the world. The female fish hatches her young by keeping the fertilized eggs in her mouth. They hatch in about 10 days. The fish grows to sardine size in about three months.

Oxygen from the algae combined with the waste matter to produce bacteria on which the algae feeds. The algae in turn is eaten by small shrimp-like creatures which become food for the fish. Both the fish and the algae are edible by humans.

Federal Pay Increase Passed by House in Face of Veto Threat

Raises Would Cover 1,500,000 Employees; Senate Passage of $690 Million Bill Sure

Washington — (AP) — Ignoring pressed doubt the bill would the threat of a veto, the house be vetoed. Confident Democrats approved pay increases predicted any veto ranging from a few hundred would be overridden in this dollars up to $1,500 yearly for election year.

The house post office committee earlier had approved a 9 per cent increase. But just before the measure went to the floor, the committee changed it to an average of 7 1/2 per cent on the theory the lower figure would attract more support in case of a veto.

The 377-40 margin by which the house passed the measure and sent it to the senate was far above the two-thirds majority that would be needed to enact it over a presidential veto.

Votes Listed Voting in favor of the raises were 123 Republicans and 254 Democrats. Only 27 Republicans followed house GOP leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana in opposing the measure.

Wisconsin members in the house voted 8 to 2 in favor of the raise.

Those voting for the measure were Reps. Gerald T. Flynn, Robert W. Kastenmeier, Gardner R. Withrow, Clement J. Zablocki, Henry S. Reuss, William K. Van Pelt, Lester R. Johnson and Alvin E. O'Konski.

Voting against it were Reps. John W. Byrnes and Melvin R. Laird.

Veto Certain Halleck said a veto was virtually certain. He added "I am very, very sure it is not going to become law."

But after the 1-sided vote, other house Republicans expected a veto.

Pilots Strike Continues in Miami

Miami, Fla. — (AP) — Pilots, at odds with the federal aviation agency and Eastern air lines, continued today a Miami strike that crippled Eastern's entire operation.

Most pilots' home telephones weren't answered and of those that were, air line callers were told the pilot was out and couldn't be reached.

A single EAL flight left Miami Wednesday — flown to New York by Capt. Edward Rordam, an official of the air line pilots association which has called the flier's walkout a wildcat strike.

Rank and file pilots, who wouldn't be quoted by name, told newsmen "The men aren't about to go back. They're fed up by the company's trying to get the men cited for contempt of court."

The pilots walked out Friday in protest to FAA flight inspectors' use of cockpit seats normally occupied by a pilot member of each jet airliner crew. The ALPA calls this a safety hazard.

MAN INJURED IN FALL

He was taken to a local hospital for examination. He had broken no bones but was badly shaken up. He will be able to resume work in a few days. The foregoing is an example of a common news item appearing every day in the newspapers.

There are 206 bones in the human skeleton, most of these making up movable joints. The spine is the main frame work and which receives the shock of falls or injuries. The bony segments making up the spine can become slightly displaced causing irritation or interference with nervous transmissions from the brain to the body. Pain is the first symptom of nerve irritation. If these spinal segments are left out of normal alignment, organic disturbances may result such as heart trouble, stomach trouble, kidney trouble, and many forms of tissue degeneration long after the original injury.

It is not only necessary to know whether or not bones are broken but also to know whether or not there are any bony displacements interfering with vital nerve energy. A Chiropractor is trained to locate and adjust these displacements.

New Cracks in the Floor of Erb park swimming pool, caused by severe winter weather, are the reason for all the leaks this spring, Director of Public Works Edwin Duszynski is convinced. Hairline cracks became large openings under weight of water when the pool was filled, he says. City workers are patching the cracks and will mud jack under the concrete slabs to give added support and forestall any more shifting of the floor. Pipes were tested and found to be sound. The pool may not open for another week.

Adlai Called Marvel of U. S. Political Scene

Stevenson Refuses to Take Sides, Says He's Not Running; Followers Seek Draft

BY JOSEPH ALSOP

Washington — The marvel of the current American political scene, and one of its most significant elements too, is Adlai Stevenson's candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The latest act in this serial, had a special charm. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt analyzed all the Stevenson pronouncements, pronounced on her favorite's admission that he was "not a draft-dodger," and therefore announced that he really was a candidate after all. Stevenson, asked for comment, reiterated for the umpteenth time that he was "not a candidate." The reporter then heard him say, as though privately musing:

"Oh, dear, I suppose that will get me into it (presumably meaning trouble) with Eleanor, won't it?" But in order to grasp the full meaning of the Stevenson candidacy-non-candidacy, it is best to begin with the big confrontation scene between Stevenson and the Democratic front-runner, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the day after Kennedy's triumph in Oregon. Kennedy then hoped to persuade Stevenson to come out for him.

Like everyone else who has approached Stevenson for any comparable purpose, Kennedy got exactly nowhere. Stevenson was profuse in his expressions of good will. He strongly emphasized that he was not a candidate himself. But he also said that he could not endorse any other candidate, because this would stultify his previous proclamations of neutrality.

He added that when the Democratic convention had made its choice, he wished to be in Johnson's nomination, Johnson will at once become the front-runner by a very wide margin. In the ensuing melee, it will be infinitely easier for the fast-moving Johnson to increase his delegate total from around 600 to 731, than for Stevenson's adherents to swell their 100 or so delegates to the magical majority figure.

(Copyright, 1960)

This seemed a trifle surprising, since the Stevenson-Lyndon Johnson relationship has been the opposite of intimate. But as though to give substance to Stevenson's explanation to Kennedy, Stevenson had a long, elaborately cozy meeting with Johnson. At this meeting, the senate majority leader used all his awe-inspiring powers to persuade Stevenson to join the stop-Kennedy movement in an active way.

If Stevenson really went to work behind the scenes, to mobilize the loyal Stevensons in California, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and elsewhere, he could contribute importantly to stopping Kennedy. But Johnson—like Kennedy—got exactly nowhere. The proof that Johnson also failed is to be found in the invisible prelude to the Stevenson-Mrs. Roosevelt dialogue. When she promulgated the theory that Stevenson really was a candidate after all, Mrs. Roosevelt was acting for a small group of Democratic leaders who hoped to draft Stevenson at Los Angeles. The group includes Sen. Monroney of Oklahoma, former Gov. Lehman of New York, former Sec. of the Air Force Thomas Finletter, the old Stevensonian perennial, George Ball, and other like-minded persons.

The purpose of Mrs. Roosevelt's announcement was to raise a banner which would rally the faithful. Too many of them have lately shown a tendency to follow Prof. Arthur Schlesinger Jr. and Kenneth Galbraith into the Kennedy camp. Before Mrs. Roosevelt acted, moreover, Monroney and others went all out to persuade Stevenson to make a "positive" comment, which would seem to give extra substance to what Mrs. Roosevelt was going to say. But these long telephone calls to Libertyville ended like all the other approaches to Stevenson.

Kennedy cannot be stopped unless Johnson holds his massive block of votes together. If the Stevensons and the Symington adherents and Kennedy's nomination, Johnson will at once become the front-runner by a very wide margin. In the ensuing melee, it will be infinitely easier for the fast-moving Johnson to increase his delegate total from around 600 to 731, than for Stevenson's adherents to swell their 100 or so delegates to the magical majority figure.

heads for Formosa. He is due Saturday in the nationalistic Chinese island stronghold.

Hagerty said U.S. officials are asking the South Korean government whether the trip to Seoul can be moved ahead. A one-day stopover there had been planned after the Japanese visit.

Hagerty read off a statement announcing cancellation of the trip. In it Eisenhower joined Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi of Japan in blaming a small, organized minority "led by professional communist agitators" for the long series of riots that made it impossible for the Japanese government to guarantee the president's safety.

Pledges Friendship

Eisenhower vowed that the Japanese rioters who forced delay of his trip "will not and can not disrupt the abiding friendship and understanding" uniting Japan and the United States. He expressed confidence that the Japanese government can check these "deliberate challenges to law and order."

Hagerty put it like this: "He (Eisenhower) would like also to express his regret that a small, organized minority led by professional communist agitators, acting under external direction and control, has been able to resort to force and violence to prevent his good will visit and to mar the celebration of this centennial in Japanese-American relations."

Asked whether Eisenhower believes Moscow or Peking directed the riots against Kishi, Hagerty replied: "Probably both."

Hazard Removed

Hagerty also reported that until today Eisenhower had no indication that the Japanese would ask for an indefinite postponement of the trip.

The Japanese government's decision brought regret and uncertainty but the regret was mixed with relief that the president would not have to risk his personal safety in a mission that Hagerty said only yesterday Eisenhower was determined to fulfill "as a soldier."

Eisenhower is known to have turned down the advice of some aides who suggested he cancel the Japanese visit after the collapse of plans for a good will visit to Russia.

Eisenhower appeared determined to show that even if he was not welcome in Russia, other nations would be happy to hail him as a symbol of American democracy. He also wanted to continue on to Japan to show that minority riots could not disrupt Japanese democracy.

Rioting Increased

The fear of violence worried security as well as state department officials for three weeks before Eisenhower left Washington.

Advice from Ambassador Douglas MacArthur II in Tokyo had been that the Japanese left-wingers would not dare demonstrate against Eisenhower, particularly when he was accompanied by Emperor Hirohito on his drive from the airport to downtown Tokyo.

Security authorities became less and less convinced of this as fanatical Japanese student groups stepped up the tempo of their demonstrations against Kishi.

The secret service men, who would have had prime responsibility for Eisenhower's safety in Tokyo, heard the news of the cancellation with undisguised pleasure.

The dramatic blowup of the Japanese visit overshadowed a rousing Filipino farewell in Manila's Luneta park to climax Eisenhower's visit—probably the single most successful trip of any during his presidential travels.

Tens of thousands of happy Filipinos massed in the park at the very moment the Japanese government was deciding to call off the trip. The president warned his audience against "communist provocations, subversion and terrorism."

Eisenhower, his face ruddy after two days of exposure to the blazing Manila sun, appeared relaxed. He wore a dark blue suit complete with vest and a white Panama hat. He was protected from the hot Manila sun, which raised the temperature to 91 degrees at 4 p.m., by an oval roof. He stood in the same grandstand occupied by American and Filipino officials on July 4, 1946, when the United States granted independence to this Asian republic.

Eisenhower chuckled as a platoon of motorcyclists rode by, with cards spelling out his nickname—I-K-E.

The crowd was responsive to Eisenhower's every move and gesture. They cheered and applauded when he craned his neck to follow the course of a high-flying jet. They laughed appreciatively every time he turned to smile or say a few words to Garcia.

When Eisenhower then re-upped behind Patrolman Harry Holcomb of the canine corps, learned over and engaged him in earnest conversation. They were Hagerty, and Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster. White his teeth into Hill's right thigh.

House staff secretary. Eisenhower's face turned serious as he listened.

In his speech, the president declared that the nuclear arms race must be brought under control to "eliminate the nuclear menace that is poised in delicate suspension over the heads of all mankind."

ion," told a reporter, "we ought to be more careful in planning this sort of visit."

"After the blowup of the summit conference and the cancellation of Khrushchev's invitation for the president to visit Russia it might have been well to have postponed plans for the Far Eastern trip until a more favorable time."

Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt) said he believes the development "does not bode well for the Kishi government."

He expressed the view that agitation in Japan was not directed at Americans, generally speaking, because the demonstrators "have been careful not to injure Americans or American property."

Aimed at Kishi

He suggested the wave of violence was aimed largely at the government in power in Japan and predicted that the Kishi regime would have an uphill struggle to remain in power. He did not subscribe, he said, to any view that unrest in Japan was wholly communist in origin although he said reds were very active in organizing demonstrations.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Texas) said "if there was danger of harm to the president I am glad he canceled the visit."

Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, house Republican leader, commented: "I'm sure the president exercised sound judgment."

Sen. Mansfield called for patience and understanding on this country's part.

Doctor's Interest in Blind Reading Led to Development of Special Unit

New York — Dr. Samuel G. Gridley Howe doesn't rank with Paul Revere, but his ride one spring day in 1835 helped to fill a great void in the religious life of the blind. With two blind companions, he rode from Boston to New York to show the American Bible society that sightless persons could be taught to read the Bible with their finger tips.

Dr. Howe was not blind himself, but he was deeply interested in the problems of the sightless.

Bible Changed
The society, noting that there were then more than 5,000 blind people in the United States, responded with a $1,000 check to get the work started.

Now, nearly 800,000 Scriptures and many thousands of dollars later, the society is observing the 125th anniversary of its service to the blind.

The Bible for the blind has changed considerably since Dr. Howe's pioneer days.

18 Bulky Volumes
His system, which he learned in Europe, consisted of raised letters embossed on special paper. The sightless reader traced the letters with his finger tips.

Today, the standard method is Braille, in which combinations of dots stand for letters. Its advantage over the old system is that the scriptures can be printed on both sides of a page.

The standard Braille Bible in English comes in a set of 18 bulky volumes. Each volume is about 2 1/2 inches thick and slightly larger than an encyclopedia.

The number of volumes varies according to the language. The Braille Bible in Japanese has 32 volumes and Afrikaans, a South African tongue, requires an 8-foot stack of 75 volumes.

42 Languages
The society prints the Bible for the blind in more than 42 systems and languages, including such obscure tongues as Hausa Africa and Tamil Ceylon.

Each volume of the Braille Bible costs the society about $4.50 to produce, but they are sold to the blind for a token price of 25 cents. The differ-

Regents Prepare Budget for College Of 2,350 Enrollment

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — Wisconsin State college at Oshkosh next fall will lengthen its lead as the principal school in the state college system with a probable enrollment of 2,350 students, the state college regents were informed here Wednesday as they prepared a budget for the colleges for the next academic year.

The Oshkosh school will gain about 225 students over the enrollment of the last year and will be more than 200 ahead of the second school in the system, at LaCrosse.

$2 Million Up
The regents were preparing a $16,623,000 operating budget for the nine schools in the system for the next year. The total is about $2 million higher than last year and represents money authorized by the state legislature to serve an estimated 16,000 students on the nine campuses. The estimated enrollment is about 1,800 students larger than the system total of last year.

The additional expenditures will be used for 69 new faculty positions in the system, a 4 per cent salary boost for teachers, additional civil service employees, more equipment and library books, and the operation of five new student dormitories.

The regents are expected to approve a budget of $1,940,000 for the Oshkosh college for the next year. Among the Oshkosh college faculty promotions are the appointments to full professor of associate professors Frederick Caudle, Roger Dennis, Herbert Gaede and Jacob Shapiro.

Sobers Up to Read the Law

Los Angeles — (AP) — Emery T. Newbern will have plenty of time to read law now. He committed himself to Camarillo State Hospital Tuesday.

Newbern, arrested nearly 200 times for drunkenness, won wide notoriety as a jail cell barrister by drafting numerous appeals. On one of these, the state supreme court ruled a section of California's common drunk law unconstitutional.

The 39-year-old merchant seaman filed his own commitment petition in superior court after another branch of the court declined to order him to Camarillo.

$5,350 of Fairbanks Fund Spent; $5,000 Invested

Nearly $5,350 of the Fairbanks fund has been spent to buy new equipment for the city home, according to a report from Welfare Director Melville Flagstad. Another $5,000 has been invested by City Treasurer Ray Feuerstein in a U.S. treasury bill.

The fund was established in 1934 when Mrs. Edith Fairbanks died and willed the city $5,411 for "the erection and maintenance of an old people's home." The will was drawn in 1929. None of the money was spent because it was not enough to build a home and by 1945 interest earnings raised the fund to $10,466.35.

Court Ruling

First purchase from the fund was made April 30, 1957, eight years after the state supreme court ruled the city could "apply the trust funds for maintenance of its existing home." Purchase in 1957 totaled $1,615.79; in 1959, $1,810, and thus far in 1960, $1,924.84. Nothing, disbursements were for furniture and infirmity equipment. In addition to the investment.

Thursday, June 16, 1960 Appleton Post-Crescent A8

$5,000 there is a cash balance of nearly $1,600.

Flagstad pointed out that nearly all material bought has been equipment which could be moved into and utilized in a new city home if one is ever built. Largest item ever purchased is a dishwasher, costing $1,195. Most other disbursements were for furniture and infirmity equipment. MacMurray is 52.

side his official residence, screaming for the U.S.-aligned cabinet to resign.

Strikes Threatened
Zengakuren, the fanatical Marxist student organization which staged the most violent of Tokyo's five weeks of demonstrations, issued a statement claiming credit for cancellation of Eisenhower's visit.

Zengakuren leaders threatened unlimited strikes and from the streets if it could get waiting newsmen after pre-daily demonstrations until Kishi and U.S.-Japan security police have been reluctant to night.

But Kishi said he will not use their full powers because how to worldwide communist demands for a breakup of Japan's military alliance with the United States and resignation of his cabinet.

He said he will not even discuss dissolving parliament or quitting until the final ex- of Tokyo's five weeks of demonstrations, issued a new pact providing for American bases here for at least another decade.

The Japanese government could easily drive the mobs made the announcement to ened "unlimited strikes and from the streets if it could get waiting newsmen after pre-daily demonstrations until Kishi and U.S.-Japan security police have been reluctant to night.

But Kishi said he will not use their full powers because they fear the stigma of Japan's brutal prewar police. The government is even more reluctant to call out troops for fear of acting like Japan's old military masters.

Communist Strategy
The opportunity now before the communist world — a Japan pushed perilously close to revolution by a violent minority — may never come again.

It is exactly the type of chaotic situation communists deliberately foster as the proper setting for a bid for power. The question remained as to whether the communists would let this opportunity pass.

Kishi was grim-faced as he made the announcement to ened "unlimited strikes and from the streets if it could get waiting newsmen after pre-daily demonstrations until Kishi and U.S.-Japan security police have been reluctant to night.

But Kishi said he will not use their full powers because

Defendants Face New Obstacles in Finch Trial Opening

Los Angeles — Government officials dealt a double setback to the defendants in the Finch murder trial.

Attorneys for Carole Treggoff Wednesday abruptly cancelled a scheduled conference with the district attorney's office after a prosecutor said charges against the red-haired beauty would not be dropped. One of her lawyers had said earlier that he would ask a dismissal.

In the other reversal Wednesday, Carole's co-defendant, Dr. R. Bernard Finch, was told by the district court of appeal that a private conference room will not be available for the retrial scheduled to start Monday.

During the first trial, in which the jury deadlocked, Dr. Finch and Carole were allowed to hold private court-house conferences with their attorneys.

whose government was shaken by prolonged rioting against renewal of the U. S.-Japanese security treaty and Eisenhower's visit, said the demonstrations were "obvious, premeditated violence planned by the communists."

"To protect peace and freedom and the future prosperity of Japan, we must fight this violence head on," he added.

Firmly for Treaty
Kishi gave no ground on the leftists' chief demands — for dissolution of parliament to nullify ratification of the defense pact so the voters could accept or reject it in a general election, and for his own resignation from office.

The prime minister served notice he would continue to press for quick ratification of the treaty and asserted:

"I will not resign or dissolve parliament until the security pact is ratified—I have said it before and I will say it now."

The pact originally would have taken effect automatically on Sunday, a month after Kishi's majority in the lower house approved it. The prime minister had planned to postpone this by recessing parliament during Eisenhower's visit to ease the tension, but it appeared likely he now would keep parliament in session so the treaty would take effect as originally planned.

Already Moscow was crowing over the government's action. A Tass agency dispatch said: "By cancelling the invitation to President Eisenhower, the Kishi government actually admitted its bankruptcy."

Renewed Violence
The decision came as Tokyo was threatened with another day of left-wing violence.

Approximately 15,000 students and labor union members renewed their demonstrations this morning near the parliament building where one girl student was killed and more than 1,000 police and demonstrators injured yesterday.

"Down with Kishi!" they chanted in a driving rain-storm.

When they got the news that the cabinet had withdrawn the invitation to Eisenhower, they chanted in jubilation:

"Eisenhower's not coming! Eisenhower's not coming!"

There were indications anti-Kishi demonstrations would hit a new fever pitch between now and Sunday.

Moscow Ordered Japanese Riots, Kennedy Thinks

Cambridge, Mass. — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) said today he believes the riots in Tokyo were promoted on orders from Moscow.

The aspirant for the Democratic nomination for president said:

"I think the whole activity in Tokyo was on orders from Moscow with a desire to embarrass the United States and to intensify the cold war."

"I think it indicates the nature of the cold war," he said.

Kennedy was here as a member of the board of overseers of Harvard university to attend the board's final meeting of the academic year at Harvard's 300th commencement today. Kennedy is a Harvard alumnus.

Charles E. Bohlen, state department expert on Soviet affairs, who is to receive an honorary Harvard degree today, had no comment on the Japanese action.

Reapportionment in New Jersey

The New Jersey Supreme Court has ordered the legislature to reapportion the seats in the state assembly before the 1961 primary election in April.

There has been no reapportionment of the New Jersey legislature since 1941. All efforts to secure redistribution of the legislative seats on the basis of population, after each federal census, failed because of inter-party disagreements. As a result of those struggles the case was taken to superior court where Judge Lester Drenk held that the judiciary had no power to intervene. In other words, if the legislature refused to act the people had no recourse. A similar ruling once was made by the supreme court of Wisconsin and as a result reapportionment in the state was long delayed. It finally was brought about by agreement only ten years ago but not as a result of a court decision.

In New Jersey, Supreme Court Justice John J. Francis, writing the decision for the unanimous court, declared the court has "both the power and the duty to see that the voters were properly represented in the legislature." That decision seems to make sense. The right to equal representation in the legislature is an important and valuable part of citizenship. It is unreasonable to suppose that counties, having attained a certain number of votes in the legislature because of their population, should be permitted to keep those legislative votes in spite of the fact that other counties, which once were much smaller, have passed them in population and are therefore legally entitled to an increase in legislative representation.

In the New Jersey case, the residents of Monmouth county claimed that on the basis of the 1960 census they were entitled to three instead of two seats in the legislature and Hudson county, with nine seats, was actually entitled to no more than eight.

During the years since 1941 there have been many changes in the populations of the several counties but there has been no change in their representation. Thus there are counties like Bergen county, for example, which has a population now comparable to that of Hudson and perhaps even larger but it has only six seats in the assembly. The final report on the 1960 census is expected to emphasize these differences.

It is a good thing for every state in the nation that the New Jersey Supreme Court has faced up to its responsibilities and ordered the legislature to reapportion. The question has been raised as to what action the court might take if the legislature failed to reapportion by the 1961 deadline. That is a question the courts appear to have hesitated to face. Nevertheless, it also is a good question to ask the legislature what action it could take if the supreme court held that it was an illegal body and all of its actions were illegal. It will be interesting to see what happens. We hope that the legislature will proceed to reapportion and that the supreme courts across the land will find they do have the power to require legislatures to live up to their constitutions.

Putting Money Back in the Business

The Bridgeport Brass company of Connecticut recently asked employees in its seven plants how much of the company's $173,000,000 income they thought could be retained for reinvestment in the business.

Everyone knows that if a business is to continue it must have money to maintain its plant, and if it is to expand, it must have money for the addition of buildings and machinery. Employees of the Bridgeport company were much better informed on this subject than are most people. However, they guessed too high. In two of the plants the average estimate was 12 cents of each dollar, in one it was 11 cents, in two others it was 8 cents and finally in the last plant it was 7.5 cents. Employees in other companies have been asked the same question and have guessed up around 25 cents. The Bridgeport employees were closer but far too high. Of the $173,000,000 received in income, the company was able to keep only about $4,000,000. That is only 2.3 cents out of each dollar.

This is so because materials required to manufacture the products sold took 59.2 cents out of each dollar, wages took 27.1 cents, and taxes 5.2 cents. This leaves only 8.5 cents remaining and there still is freight to be paid costing 2.7 cents, depreciation 1.7 cents, dividends to stockholders 1.8

cents, and the remainder is only 2.3 cents for reinvestment and reinvestment is very important if the firm is to prosper.

It is interesting to note that the earnings retained, the dividends paid to stockholders, and the amount set aside for depreciation amount to only a little more than the total paid in taxes. Every year more and more money is required for investment to provide a job. This is true for two reasons, inflationary cost of machinery and the greater use of automatic machinery.

Where is a company to get such new money? Quite obviously it is impossible to reduce the cost of materials, wages or freight if an expansion program is proposed. The amount set aside for depreciation is fixed by wear on the present facilities. Dividends to stockholders must be maintained to encourage investors to put their money into the business. Earnings retained go directly into the business. Thus a possible reduction in taxes offers the only hope. That hope is a slim one at present but one that holds future possibilities.

All citizens should have in mind the fact that every cent of public money that is wasted is money taken by taxes. In many instances it is taken from funds which would otherwise be available to produce more plant facilities and thus more jobs.

The Sikhs Want to be Recognized

The problem in the United States of understanding the accent in the mid-south hill country, the drawl of the deep south, the twang of the west or the broad a's of New England is nothing compared to the troubles, linguistically speaking, of India. Hundreds of dialects exist and there has been considerable pressure to divide states according to language preferences.

The current agitation is by the Sikhs, the bearded, turbaned giants who trace their religious adherence back more than 500 years. Sikhs, who number about 5 1/2 million, live in the State of Punjab, along with about 10 million Hindus. Their language, Punjabi, is recognized by the Indian constitution as a regional Indian tongue but some critics claim it is only a dialect of Hindi, the national language.

The Sikhs want Punjab divided into two states so that they can have a majority in one of them. They acknowledge that most of the Hindus in Punjab can speak their language, but the basic complaint is that the two write the language in different script. Dedicated Sikhs say that only their script of Gurmukhi can sufficiently express the meaning and culture of the Sikh Punjabi tongue.

Last month the State of Bombay was divided into two states according to linguistic lines and the Sikhs regard that as precedent. But the Indian government so far has not acceded to the demands. Sikh leaders have been jailed and a planned demonstration in New Delhi by 500,000 Sikhs was banned.

In this country, we have no idea of the dedication to religious and cultural allegiances that exist in India. It may be that the long years of British control accentuated the loyalty to the various religious groups.

What Others are Saying

Question Summit Collapse as Excuse for More Spending

From The Wall Street Journal

It was predictable that the summit collapse would encourage congress to increase defense spending, and already some Democratic senators are talking of tacking an extra $2 billion to $3 billion onto military appropriations.

But the predictability of this reaction does not necessarily make it logical. What ever else may be said about the U-2 flights over Russia, the fact that they had been going on for four years hardly supports the familiar Democratic charge that the administration has been sacrificing national defense on an altar of penury. On the contrary, the flights suggest that our military program is strong and rather ingenious, while Soviet defenses seem somewhat weaker than suspected.

As for the summit itself, it is true that Khrushchev brought an extremely tough verbal line with him to Paris. However, it is far from sure that the words will be followed by belligerent deeds; Khrushchev was careful not to commit himself to any. More importantly, the notion that defense spending should be increased because of Khrushchev's harsh language seems to miss the point about our military policy.

That policy is based on the recognition that the Soviets are formidable foes indeed, whichever side of their mouths they may be talking in halting the waste for out of a given moment. The American effort is to confront them with such military power as to make war an inadmissible risk to them — and to keep confronting them with that power for as long as necessary.

As President Eisenhower said the other night, our defenses are neither neglected in complacency nor overbuilt in hysteria. Certainly they were not neglected in the recent period when Khrushchev seemed to be seeking an improved international atmosphere.

We are not for a moment suggesting that U. S. military policy is above criticism. Nor do we consider sacrosanct the approximately $41 billion a year the pentagon has been spending; it may be too much or conceivably too little, or it may not be allocated in the best possible way. It technology and the changing nature of warfare require more for certain activities, the funds should be found in savings on less important efforts and

Switch One Way To Deal With Young Offenders

From The San Diego Union

The British advisory council on the treatment of offenders is now considering the question of retaining corporal punishment. There is much sentiment for eliminating the cat-of-nine-tails in favor of birching and caning. The lord chief justice, Lord Parker, capsules his views this way:

"The cat made the victim a hero and a martyr. There is just that element of indignity about the birch

Menasha to Repair Plank Road

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of June 16, 1860.

The people of the town of Menasha have at last waked up to a sense of their duty and commenced repairing the old plank road from that burgh to this city.

They have commenced to replank the slough road, which has been in very critical condition for the last two years, hardly safe for a team to cross. We are informed that the Menashaites feel their need of a good road to Appleton because it is the best place to buy their supplies and the best market for their produce and manufactured articles.

The board of review of the federal emergency administration of public works was to hold a hearing Monday on the application for an allotment to build a bridge spanning the straits of Mackinac. A bill authorizing such a structure, offered at the last session of congress by Rep. Prentiss M. Brown, (D. Mich.) failed to pass after objections were made by both Rep. Carl Mapes and George A. Dondero, Michigan Republicans. "I am just as bitterly opposed to such a thing now as I was then, and I intend to appear before the board to protest against it," Dondero said. He described the plan as being a "fantastic one" and said it was highly impractical.

Democratic tax law drafters were reported, after a surprise secret huddle, to be in virtual agreement on a billion-dollar-plus excise tax cutting bill that could avoid a presidential veto. The huddle, understood to have been attended by house ways and means Democrats and Speaker Rayburn, changed the whole outlook for tax legislation — which had been dark for that session.

Attitude of Employees Union Is Provocative

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — The Wisconsin State Employees association is a responsible organization, led by men of tact, intelligence and long experience.

Roy Kubista, the long-time executive secretary of the union of state employees that probably counts a third to a half of the rank and file workers of the state service as dues-payers, is one of the familiar and respected figures in statehouse life.

John Lawton, the association legal counsel, is a man of temperate judgment and a sense of public responsibility. He is one of the most effective advocates for his cause in legislative politics.

The disinterested bystander, therefore, is left to wonder about the forces of internal union politics that brought them to the egregious position they were defending before the state board of personnel the other day as the union protested the selection of a new apprenticeship supervisor within the state industrial commission.

INSIDERS RIGHTS

Nothing the union could have done was so well calculated to arouse suspicion, at worst, and skepticism, at best, among neutral and well-wishers as their solemn demand that those persons now working within the state service have rights to upper level jobs that are superior to those of outsiders, whatever the qualifications of the latter.

When a vacancy occurs, said the union, the employees of the unit involved should have the first right to compete for filling it, through the device of an internal promotion examination.

An open and competitive examination to which anyone is eligible, which some citizens in their naivete have supposed is the heart of the "merit system" idea, should be used only in exceptional circumstances and with great restraint, the union claims.

As long as there is anybody within a state capital bureau or division or department who is interested and who can muster a passing grade of 70, say, with competition limited, the outsider which made the criminal fear it." Corporal punishment is one way the British have to deal with juvenile delinquents. Results so far indicate that it gets at the seat of the trouble.

should be barred from the testing. One can imagine the thousands of students now completing their college studies and what they may feel about such arrogant assumptions and claims.

It is not hard to visualize, moreover, the reactions of the hundreds of thousands of private citizens of the state who are called upon for ever higher tax payments for the support of these public services when such assertions are matter-of-factly put on the public record.

INBREEDING

Aside from the probable political repercussions of such an attitude, the consumer of governmental services who has no personal desire for civil service competition may well wonder about the results of such a policy if the state should ever knuckle under to such demands.

It would be the equivalent of creating a vested interest. It would insure an inbreeding and ultimate degeneration of the quality of governmental performance.

It would equate quality and efficiency with seniority, evidence to the contrary. It would make civil service administration a mechanical chore. The civil service ideal which was developed for the benefit of the general public — to assure the best personnel for the public services — would be distorted into a tool for the aggrandizement of incumbents of the establishment.

The state employees union preaches solemnly about the desirability of a "career service." Nobody will quarrel with that objective. It is as useful in the public business as in private enterprise.

But it is stretching the idea beyond the limits of the public patience, it may be guessed, to say that because a man happens to have a minor job in the government he should be permitted to move upward in the service, without limit, without the bother of showing his quality in fair competition with fellow citizens elsewhere.

Wild Asparagus Hunters Have Failed to Show

From The New Holstein Reporter

This is the time of the year when wild asparagus hunters are on the prowl. Over the years they have increased in numbers while the succulent green plants have not kept pace. Thus, competition in the search is keen and a dyed-in-the wool asparagus hunter will guard location of a bed as carefully as a trout fisherman keeps favorite "deep holes" to himself.

"Some people" have a notion it doesn't pay to advertise, but anyone that is in tune with the times knows there is nothing that can beat a newspaper for getting around. So — if there are any youngsters who want to earn a few dimes, get out and plan a "hunt and cut" safari and bring me a few pounds of asparagus. Other years they are breaking my door down soon after the first spring rain, but so far they have been conspicuous by their absence.

Only in America 7-Year-Itch As Related To Marriage

BY HARRY GOLDEN

The "seven-year itch" is a euphemism which describes the intense, shall we say re-evaluation? married people give to fidelity during the seventh year of their marriage.

It is an error, however, to ascribe this itch to any of the biological urges. It is more than that. The "seven-year itch" is related to whole economic process. After seven years of marriage the home furnishings the newly-weds bought have begun to wear out. The sheets are torn. The armchair sags. The couch needs reupholstering. The television set is on the blink.

The rug is threadbare. The kitchen needs a whole new set of cabinets which open and close without banging and wrenching. The washing machine must have a new motor.

This is what starts the "itch." If the marriage is on a firm footing, it means more work for upholsterers, repairmen, and soft goods merchants. But if the marriage is a little shaky, most people figure the hell with those repair bills, they'll get by with what they have until the marriage breaks up. And then they help the break-up along a little bit. (Copyright, 1960)

Khrushchev Should Put His Rockets Where the Noise Is

UN May Repeat Faltering of Ill-Fated League

From The Seattle (Wash.) Post-Intelligencer

The announcement of the Dalai Lama that he may visit the United Nations to protest the massacre of his people, even little children, and the subjugation of his country by the red Chinese savages rings a chord of memory akin to "this is where we came in."

Brutalization of Tibet has its counterpart in the conquest of Ethiopia by Mussolini, beginning in October of 1935.

Then, as now, there was a "world legislative body," and it was in July of 1936 that Ethiopia's Haile Selassie made his dramatic personal appearance before the League of Nations to beg its intervention for his beleaguered country.

He got sympathy. By inaction, the League exposed its impotence and started on its last mile. May it not be said that history repeats? It is difficult to forget Korea, Indochina, Hungary, Tibet.

Knowing Fisherman, This Might Not be Any Proof at All

From The Birmingham News

The Oklahoma attorney general has ruled that a fishing license is adequate proof of age in application for marriage licenses. Either he is a most trusting soul or he isn't acquainted with many fishermen. If most of them are no more truthful about their ages than they are about the size and variety of piscatorial species they allegedly catch, that ain't no proof a-tall.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

Gov. Rockefeller says he's not running for president. And that's his final word on this topic—subject to change without notice.

Eleanor Roosevelt says Adlai Stevenson is a candidate. But he says he isn't. The difference is that she has been listening to what he says while he has been listening to what the delegates say.

Ike heads toward Japan. Nixon stays home and handles the Eisenhower program which, if you believe Rockefeller, leaves him with practically nothing to do.

Rockefeller has indeed charted his course, but it's hard to know whether he thinks his destination is Chicago—or Los Angeles.

Adlai Stevenson's telegram to Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt was entirely in character. Neither one is ever without a message.

Isolationist: A fellow who claims that most of our troubles stem from the fact that America was discovered by a foreigner.

Democrats have four well-heeled candidates for president: It's now the party of the three J's—Jefferson, Jackson and Jack.

To Your Good Health

First Days of Breast-Feeding May be Difficult for Infant

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My first experience at nursing a baby was 13 years ago. I had caked breasts, a hungry and colicky baby. Nipple shields and breast pump left me with a very unhappy memory of the experience."

"I tried twelve babies later I tried again. This time I fed the baby as long as she was able to nurse. When she tired, I pumped out the rest and gave it to her in an easy, even - flowing bottle. In less than two weeks she was able to empty the breasts by herself—it seems that the milk doesn't start easily from my breasts."

"I had an accurate scale with which I weighed her before and after nursing until I was sure she was getting enough milk, and also had a supply of powdered formula that could be prepared quickly if needed."

"She was a very well and happy baby, never as heavy as the three I'd bottle-fed, but plump and strong, and heavier than the first."

Social Problem

"One thing bothered me. When it was feeding time and I was away from home or guests were present, I was always careful to keep any part of my bosom covered with a blanket, and the baby's head lightly covered while she nursed."

"Even so, people acted as though they were on needles and pins until I was done. One person who has never instructed her daughter in the proper social graces—impropriety of shorts on Main street, tight-fitted slacks in public, too-tight sheath dresses and peek-a-boo necklines, actually made me feel I should banish myself to another room to feed my baby when there was one other lady present."

"Why do people today feel that nursing a baby is an improper procedure?"—Mrs. L. C."

Sensible Mother As to the medical aspects of your letter, I trust mothers who consider nursing (and I hope all do will remember that it is quite normal for the first few days to be difficult for the baby.

When the difficulty continues, as in your case, the method you adopted is very sensible. I'm glad to note that you took pains to be sure the baby really was getting enough food. Congratulations!

As to the second half of your letter, if a lot of people were present, I would think it wise to take the baby to some quiet room for the feeding—but I'm as baffled as you are as to why there is anything improper about giving a baby her dinner.

Excellent Food

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have heard more than one person state that milk can be harmful if drunk in quantity by an adult, and that it is merely a baby food. I know this is incorrect, but I'd like something from you about it.—T. N."

I've heard it, too. True, it is possible for some people to be hypersensitive, or allergic, to cow's milk (or almost anything else) but this isn't the rule. It is the exception. Milk, for one thing, is an excellent source of calcium, and is amazing how many older people complain of bruising easily, of having muscular cramps, and such troubles which very often can be traced to lack of calcium. No, milk isn't merely a baby food. It's good for adults as well as for children.

No Harm to Kidneys

NOTE TO M.E.M.: I know of no reason why nibbling hard boiled eggs should harm the kidneys. For the sake of your reducing diet, however, why not substitute celery, raw cabbage, carrots or other raw vegetables as least half the time when you have the urge to nibble? This will cut the calories!

If troubled with fissures, fistulas, itching and other rectal problems, write to me in care of this newspaper requesting a copy of my booklet, "The Real Cure For Hemorrhoids." Enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover handling. (Copyright, 1960)

Poor Housing Is Shame of Many Cities

Los Angeles —Apathy has replaced graft as the shame of cities, and one result is inadequate housing, says Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

"It is a grim and tragic paradox that the wealthiest nation in all history is not providing adequate shelter for the majority of its people," Brown said in addressing his conference on housing.

Twenty-two million people live in slums and "spreading blight threatens to destroy large parts of our cities as desirable places in which to live and work and raise a family," the governor declared.

For lower income groups, Brown said, the housing problem is "as massive and ugly as it has always been."

Also suffering, he added, are middle income groups whose members "are getting poorer for their dollar when they buy housing than when they buy food or clothing."

VNA Building Low Bids Hit $588,156

Peabody Manor Construction Costs Slightly Below Estimate

Construction of the Visiting Nurse association's Peabody Manor, a home for the retired, will cost about $588,156, slightly less than originally estimated, apparent low bids indicate.

Bids were opened Wednesday by M. F. Siewert of Shattuck, Siewert and Associates, Neenah, the designers. Low bidders were: general construction, Dick Oudenhoven Construction, Kaukauna, $359,944; plumbing, R. Selig & Sons, $67,960; heating and ventilating, August Winter & Sons, Appleton, $72,500; electrical, Uptown Electric, Wau-paca, $58,900, and elevator, Northwestern Elevator, Mil-waukee, $28,852.

Total cost of the home is estimated at $750,000, said Mrs. L. E. Pasek, VNA board member. About a third of the cost will come from the estate of George F. Peabody, Appleton philanthropist.

A $500,000 continuing fund raising campaign has reached $380,000, Mrs. Paul Truttschel, publicity chairman for the home, said Wednesday. Peabody Manor will house

50 men and women over 65 who have been residents of Outagamie county, Neenah or Menasha, and who are not bedridden. Complete facilities will be available for those who become ill as residents.

Federal Aid Since part of the building will be used as an infirmary, federal aid is available. Bids will be sent to the state board of health for examination. Contracts will be awarded within two weeks, Mrs. Truttschel said. High bid among the seven general construction bidders was $398,000. One of the five plumbing bidders quoted $78,900. High bid for heating and ventilating was $83,432, electrical, $67,330 and elevator, $32,382.

Four Injured in 2-Car Collision

Four persons were treated late Wednesday afternoon for shock, bumps and bruises, after two cars collided at an Appleton intersection.

Cars driven by Sylvia F. Polk, 45, of 2408 S. Harmon street, and Daniel Eisch, 19, route 1, Larsen, collided at Morrison and Summer streets.

Treated were Mrs. Polk; Mrs. Mary Brudnick, 48; Carol Polk, 15, and James Polk, 11, of the S. Harmon street address.

A sports car driven by Karen Swatscheno, 19, of route 2, Appleton, skidded out of control on County Trunk BB at the entrance to St. Mary cemetery about 9:40 a. m. Wednesday. The car struck and broke off a power pole, county police said.

Sprinkler Kills Wood Plant Fire

Marion — The sprinkler system at the Roger and Johnson plywood factory extinguished a blaze in the fuel storage bin about 11:30 p.m. Wednesday. It is believed a spark from the smoke stack blew into the bin through an open vent and ignited wood waste stored there.

The waste ignited with a "puff" which was heard by Wilbur Kitzman, night plant fireman, and he called the sprinkler had put out the fire before the firemen arrived. No damage was reported.

Lawrence Says
Rockefeller
Pleads for Party Debate

He Shows Ideals
Not Feasible in Practical Politics

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — After listening and watching for two hours on Sunday night a television program in which Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York answered all kinds of provocative questions, this writer is convinced of the sincerity, earnestness and high purpose of the man who startled this country last week by his challenge to Vice President Nixon.

Granted that it's "too late" for the Republicans to nominate anybody but the vice president—and, indeed, judged by political standards, Nixon is the man they will choose—Rockefeller unwittingly presented a good argument for some other system of choosing party nominees and making party policy than the one in vogue.

In fact, Rockefeller was advancing a theory that the present system of forming party policy or selecting the best candidate needs revision. Indeed, the government has grown so large that Rockefeller reflected to some extent the public's impatience with political habits.

The tradition is that before a national convention there can be rival candidates expressing different views, but that, once a candidate is chosen, the party members must rally behind him.

Too Late

Rockefeller is ready to support Nixon after his nomination, but he thinks that between now and the convention policies can be shaped, and a united party can go before the electorate. This, of course, is not practical. What Rockefeller is doing today, he might better have done six months ago. But since he has not apparently considered the effects his one-man crusade may have on his own political future, the New York governor believes that debate on the issues before the convention would help Nixon. Much of the criticism directed toward the administration arises from changes in world affairs themselves. Neither Nixon nor President Eisenhower can be held responsible for the changed situation resulting from Nikita Khrushchev's erratic behavior.

Judged abstractedly, Rockefeller is fighting a good cause—for a different way of making party policy and choosing candidates. But, as has often been said, "It's a condition and not a theory" that confronts the Republican party today. One factor is the opposition party naturally takes advantage of any dissension.

Perhaps the real trouble is that the vast majority of the voters do not analyze the issues critically and that generalities do influence elections.

Rockefeller's earnestness, his forthrightness and his modesty, are all refreshing characteristics, but somehow one gets the impression that he is moving in unfamiliar waters—among the shoals of practical politics.

On specific issues, Rockefeller skillfully presented his views. He didn't let his interrogator, David Susskind, who conducts the program known as "Open End," catch him in any way. Again and again, Rockefeller restated a question to eliminate any misleading phrases.

His insistence that he is trying not to hurt but to improve his party's chances undoubtedly made a deep impression on many who heard the talk.

Can Remake GOP

If the New York governor is willing to give the time and energy to remake his own party in the image of prudent progressivism that he has in mind, he can perform a useful service. Like many "liberals," he reaches for goals designed to improve the welfare of the American people. But he hasn't learned yet that in government, as in politics, the art of readjustment is paramount and that what is "possible" to do in legislation or public policy has to be accepted by those in public office.

Several things are clear. Rockefeller is not a radical at heart, but a conservative. He is not fooled by Communist intrigue and is alert to the Communist menace inside and outside America. He is for a balanced federal budget, but he has the temerity to ask that the money be spent for things essential to our defense. Unhappily, such an ideal has to run up against the practical—the votes in Congress for domestic measures. Sewage treatment plants become the present, trying to handle affairs on parties. This may be of nearly 180,000,000 million an unsatisfactory system, but it's the way that big govern-

Propose Removing All Drains From Sanitary Sewers

Suggested Ordinance Would Include Air Conditioners

Neenah — Separation of all downspouts, drain tiles, air conditioning systems and industrial cooling operations from sanitary sewers was proposed in the first draft of a sanitary sewer control ordinance read to the common council Wednesday night.

The ordinance is being studied by the public works committee. No action was taken by the council.

Separation of existing connections would be required, under the proposal, within three months, but Mayor Bell and Public Works Director Wayne Bryan said the committee thought this should be extended to six months instead of three months.

The proposed ordinance sets up a $5 to $25 fine for any violation with each day constituting a separate offense.

Connections Listed

It prohibits connecting any eave troughs, rain water leaders, down spouts, cisterns, overflows, surface drains, foundation drains, drain tiles, air conditioning systems, industrial cooling operations or anything similar in any manner so as to discharge into the sanitary sewers.

It would further provide that the owner of any property where such specified drain connections now exist, including swimming pools, to disconnect all such connections within a certain time limit, which may be extended from the three months listed to six months.

The plumbing inspector, or such other person designated by the council, shall have power and authority to enter

2 a.m. Closing For Taverns Set in Neenah

Council Grants Extra Hour During Daylight Saving

Neenah — A 2 a.m. closing hour for taverns during the daylight saving time period was approved by the council in a 9 to 1 vote Wednesday night upon recommendation of its public protection committee. Ald. Warren Sanders cast the lone dissenting vote.

The extra hour was asked by the tavern owners at the council's last meeting since Menasha and the surrounding townships had gone to the 2 a.m. closing period.

Ald. James Dinius asked if the public protection committee and police department felt this extra hour would increase the cost and problem of enforcement.

Ald. Peter Fara, public protection committee chairman, replied the committee had not discussed cost since it was acting only on what the surrounding communities were doing.

Ald. Dinius said he raised the question because earlier in the year when the council was considering increasing English Lutheran church in the license fees the tavern owners asked that they be cemetery. The child died at birth Tuesday.

Survivors, in addition to the parents, are two brothers, Gary and Scott, and a sister, Linda, all at home; two grandmothers, Mrs. Arthur Hanson of Duluth, Minn., and Mrs. Barney Helein of route 1, Menasha; and a grandfather, Laverne Lindgren of Racine.

15 Faculty Members at OSC Elevated

Regents Foresee More Instructors For Enrollment

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Fifteen members of the faculty of Wisconsin State college of Oshkosh were raised in academic rank by action of the board of regents of the state colleges meeting here Wednesday.

There were 117 authorized faculty positions at the Oshkosh school during the last academic year. The total probably will be raised with expected enrollment gains for the fall term.

Associate Professors Frederick Caudle, science and English teacher; Roger Dennis, music; Herbert Gaede, geography; and Jacob Shapiro, biology and conservation, were elevated to full professor rank with corresponding increases in salary besides the across-the-board raises voted for all faculty members.

Assistant Professors Lee Kalbus and David P. Marble, chemistry; Dorothy Martin, English; Eugene Moushey, library science; Phyllis Ronney, physical education; and Helen Wahoski, librarian, were promoted to associate professor ranks.

Raised from the rank of instructor to assistant professor were Robert Fiedler, art; Emerson D. Fire, mathematics.

Quality Education Goal Told by OSC President

Oshkosh — Students and the college have a common concern, "quality education," 30 new faculty positions, he noted.

Dr. Roger E. Guiles, Oshkosh State college president, said this morning at the convocation marking the opening of summer school.

"You want to be graduated from an outstanding college, and we want to remain an outstanding college," commenting on the present growth, Dr. Guiles said agencies outside of the college have estimated a student body of 4,000 by 1966. This would mean a broader curriculum to meet the needs of people in eastern Wisconsin in both the areas of professional education and liberal arts, he said.

Another advantage listed was the increased faculty, which would mean individual faculty members would concentrate on their fields of specialization, thus attracting possible more advanced courses and physics; Ruth Nelson, dean of women; Elizabeth Overton, education; and Donald W. Zahalka, journalism.

College regents also were told of the expanding evening and off-campus instruction programs of the colleges.

The Oshkosh school during the next academic year will provide 38 of such special classes, with an expected enrollment of 800 students.

Many of the classes are provided for the benefit of school system teachers in the region who desire part-time professional improvement courses.

Council Asks Aid In Solution of Air Pollution Problem

Letter to be Sent Industries, Businesses Seeking Cooperation

Neenah — An open letter to of soot, smoke, fly ash and fumes in the air in their neighborhoods. These protests and complaints always increase with the approach of the summer season.

The health and welfare committee said it is aware that firms employing combustion apparatus and chemical processes cannot at all times, and for a variety of valid reasons, completely control emission of air pollutants into the atmosphere.

Can Be Limited However, by careful control of processes and equipment the discharge of pollutants can be held within reasonable limits most of the time, the letter continues.

The committee felt that local industries make serious efforts to operate their systems in such a manner and that when excessive amounts of

Remove Stains Before Washing Summer Clothes

Oshkosh — Check your summer clothes before they go into the washing machine. Remove any stains before the hot water and soap hit the material, advises Miss Lois Klusmeyer, county home agent. At least daub the stain with cold water to keep it from setting.

If the stain is fruit, such as peaches, melons or apples, sponge with cold water. If it doesn't come out, rub the area with glycerine or soap- less shampoo, then sponge it out with cold water. Dropping a little vinegar on the stain after the shampoo and before rinsing may help.

Many labels will say "do not use a chlorine bleach." This is because a chlorine bleach should not be used on white cotton or those with a special finished cotton. It might turn yellow.

Use a sodium perborate bleach, a mild powdered bleach that is easy on silk, wool and man-made materi- als. You will find several brands on the market.

Oshkosh — Miss Mary Malnar, children's librarian at Oshkosh public library, will discuss "pre-school story hours" for 4-H child care project and junior leaders at a 1:30 p.m. Tuesday training meeting in the courthouse lounge room.

Play and play materials also will be discussed. Leaders will bring examples of children's favorite toys and ones which they do not like. Miss Lois Klusmeyer, home agent, who will assist with the meeting, recommends toys be selected that are strong, durable, safe, easy to clean and can be used in a variety of ways to suit the child's stage of development.

ing time with a child under six. Play and play materials are part of the advanced project, "Learning More About Children."

It depends upon the degree persons are willing to assume personal responsibility for bringing it down. Jones listed several things that could be done in the face of exploding population, booming travel and the ever faster pace of living. These were safer highways, safer automobiles, more and more driver education, tougher driver licensing examinations and stricter traffic law enforcement. "But the real and final answer lies in the attitude of the individual," he stressed. He asked if the individual understood his personal responsibility for protecting his life and that of others, if he would be willing to go to some trouble to fulfill that responsibility. "Until we can change public apathy into action, public indifference into indignation, public resistance to safety laws into acceptance and support, we'll never really whip the accident problem — in this decade or any other." He urged pounding home the fact that the one great safety rule is the Golden Rule and that nowhere is man literally his brother's keeper more than behind the wheel of an automobile. Jones pointed out that payola, rigging and the fix that seem to prevail in many areas of modern life have invaded the safety field, impeding efforts to reduce the number of accidents. "More and more," he commented, "it seems to be the sophisticated procedure to clip a $5 bill to your driver's license when you are stopped by a traffic officer. "More and more it seems to be a point of pride for the head of the family to brag to his wife and children that he has outsmarted a traffic officer who stopped him for speeding. And then he wonders why youngsters grow up with no respect for the law!" He told the safety conference delegates that it seemed poor grace for a nation proudly proclaiming its concern for the welfare of other peoples to tolerate an accident toll that is a major threat to the welfare of its own people. He wondered if conquering the accident toll bloodshed would not earn the nation a greater respect from other nations and enable it to wield a greater influence for world peace.

Pleasure Boat Becomes Lost On Winnebago

Going From Oshkosh To Appleton, Found Safe in Fond du Lac

Neenah — Two Appleton couples aboard a 23-foot cabin cruiser became lost on Lake Winnebago en route from Oshkosh to Appleton Wednesday night. A planned search was called off at about 8 a.m. today when the boat was found safely docked at the Fond du Lac Yacht club.

Harland "Bud" Obermeier, route 2, Menasha, reported to Menasha police at about 3 a.m. today that four and a half hours earlier he had talked by telephone to Earl Schultz, 1700 S. Lawe street, Appleton, owner of the boat. Schultz and his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Schultz, 427 W. Seymour street, Appleton, had gone to Oshkosh Wednesday night for dinner at the American Legion clubhouse. Schultz had said he was going to head then for Appleton by boat and wanted Obermeier to keep in radio contact with him. Obermeier said he went to his boat at the Menasha dock but was unable to establish any radio contact.

Roughest in 12 Years

Unsuccessful in this attempt for several hours, Obermeier checked the Appleton Yacht club at 2:30 a.m. today and the cars of the two Appleton couples still were there. He then notified Menasha police and, accompanied by Patrolman Thomas Talbot of the Menasha police, went in his boat to Oshkosh to try to find the missing couples.

Obermeier said the lake was the roughest he had seen in 12 years of boating. He arranged for an airplane to make an aerial search of the lake and was arranging with Neenah police for the Neenah boat to go out in a search.

At 8 a.m., the Oshkosh police notified them that Fond du Lac police had found the boat tied up at the Fond du Lac Yacht club and that the four persons were all right. The Schultz couple told their daughter this morning that they had lost their way.

Man With Little Money Wills Happy Words to Young and Old

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

I believe that deep in every man is an instinctive wish that he will be able to leave something for posterity when he dies. Few are able to do this because things of value are things useful or financial.

One man, however, had neither, and he left for the world a soft "will" which is periodically taken out of the archives of Cook county, Ill., and given to the world.

He was Charles Lounsbury, once an attorney, who had fallen into bad times. Lounsbury died long ago in a Cook county poorhouse. He was buried in Potters field there and the will was found in a pocket of his ragged coat. Because of its unusual nature, the will was probated by the Chicago Bar association.

The will is somewhat "corny" for today's modern tastes, but it holds some beauty, too.

It follows:

Property Not Counted

I, Charles L. Lounsbury, being of sound and disposing mind and memory, do hereby which is known in laws as my property being inconsiderable and of no account, I make no disposal of this in my will.

My right to live, being but a life estate, is not at my disposal, but these things excepted, all else in the world I now proceed to devise and bequeath.

Leaves Good Words

1. I give good fathers and mothers, in trust for their children, all good little words of praise and endearments, and I charge said parents to use them justly but generously as the needs of their children shall require.

2. I leave to children exclusively, but only for the term of their childhood, all and every, the flowers of the field and the blossoms of the woods, with the right to play among them freely according to the custom of children. . . . And I devise to the children the banks of the brooks and the golden sands beneath the waters thereof, and the odors of the willows that dip therein, and the white clouds that float high over the giant trees.

And I leave the children the long, long days to be merry in a thousand ways, and the night and the mood and the train of the milky way to wonder at. . . .

3. I devise to boys jointly all the idle fields and commons where ball may be played, all pleasant waters where one may swim, all streams and ponds where one may fish, all snow clad hills where one may coast or skate, to have and to hold the same for the period of their boyhood. And all the meadows with the clover blossoms and the butterflies thereof, the woods with the appurtenances, the birds and squirrels and echoes and all distant places to be visited, together with the adventures there to be found.

And I give to said boys, each his own place at the fireside at night, with all the pictures that may be seen in the burning wood, to enjoy without hindrance and without any incumbrances or care.

Love, Courage, Joy

4. To lovers, I devise their imaginary world with whatever they may need, as the stars of the sky, the red roses by the wall, the bloom of the hawthorn, the sweet strains of music and aught else that they may desire to explain to each other the lastingness and beauty of their love.

5. To young men, jointly, I devise and bequeath all boisterous, inspiring sports of rivalry, and I give to them the disdain of weakness and undaunted confidence in their own strength. Though they are rude, I leave to them the powers to make everlasting friendships, and of possessing companions, and to them exclusively I give all merry songs and brave choruses to sing with lusty voices.

6. To the loved, old ones, I bequeath the happiness of old age, and the love and gratitude of their children until they fall asleep.

Janitor Steals Appliances; Must Pay Within One Year

A 44-year old Appleton man who stole $540.78 worth of appliances from his employer must make restitution within a year or face a 1 to 3-year term in Waupun, municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmieghe ruled Tuesday.

Kenneth F. Rothlisberg, 513 N. Bennett street, pleaded guilty Tuesday of stealing 16 transistor radios, three steam irons and an electric frying pan from the General Electric supply company, 1302 W. Spencer street.

He was employed by the company as a janitor three nights a week and also had a full-time and another part-time job.

Got Them "Wholesale" Rothlisberg admitted selling the stolen goods to fellow employees after he told them he could get the articles wholesale. Rothlisberg also was put on three years probation. He was arrested Monday after Appleton police received a complaint June 10 from the company that several transistor radios were missing. Rothlisberg was the only one in the building the previous night. Police questioned employees at his full-time job and learned he had been selling radios.

Pocketbook, Peace Issues Split Voters Since Paris Summit

Workers Fear Job Losses, Inflation, High Wages, Prices

BY SAMUEL LUBELL

Although its full political impact has not yet registered, the summit collapse has transformed the 1960 presidential campaign.

Earlier this year, as I traveled around the country, I was struck by how preoccupied people were with domestic matters.

Questions about the approaching summit conference stirred little interest. When people talked politics it was in terms of economic problems, how active President Eisenhower was or the religious feelings stirred by Senator John F. Kennedy's candidacy.

But today many voters are torn in between "peace" and "pocketbook" issues.

On the economic front the current picture is a strange. This is the last of three articles by Samuel Lubell, top public opinion reporter, who shows that the average voter is more concerned about his domestic economic situation as against the country's deportment in foreign affairs.

ly mixed one. Four of every five persons interviewed say they are better off than a year ago — which should cheer the Republicans.

But many voters still feel "things aren't quite right" or "it's time for a change."

Some of this reflects a let-down because the boom that was expected after the steel strike has not materialized. This seems particularly true in steel-producing centers where last year's strike has been followed by slackened operations.

Bills Pile Up

In Canton, Ohio, the wife of a steelworker remarked bitterly, "We had four months' bills piled up after the strike. When we reconnected the telephone, all the calls we got were from people wanting bills paid."

But the uneasiness that one finds in worker neighborhoods can be traced to several far-reaching changes in the economy.

Currently all industries are battling to reduce costs. This seems to have brought to the fore a new symbol of worker resentment — the time-study man.

In Detroit a Cadillac worker voiced a typical complaint when he protested, "The company is trying to retine all the work to double the number of cranks shafts we turn out. If that goes through how many jobs will be left?"

Fears of job losses because of labor-saving operations are being quickened by the decentralization of factories. More often than in any previous year the complaint, "they moved the work to another plant," is volunteered by workers in explaining layoffs or the loss of overtime.

There is also more talk than previously of foreign competition. The relatively heavy sale of the new compact cars has meant overtime for workers producing them, but short work weeks in plants which turn out standard-size autos. And the aircraft industry still hasn't completed the transition to missile production.

Positions Less Secure

Many workers in short, have come to feel that the competitive position of the plant or division in which they work is far less secure than it was before the 1958 recession.

Continued inflation in recent years has also produced disparities between those who are employed in industries that have been able to pass on rising costs to the consumer and those that have not.

Farmers protest openly. "We're in a depression." One Indiana farmer summed up the disgust of his neighbors when he said, "Farming has gone to the dogs. All we do is ride along and growl."

The claim of government officials that "inflation has been halted" is not accepted by the general public. Four of every five persons I talked with think further boosts in living costs are coming, particularly after the election when steel prices are expected to rise.

Workers Dissatisfied

To maintain their living levels more and more workers have taken second jobs or their wives have gone to work. This increases the family income but does not contribute to a sense of security.

Nor are workers satisfied with what labor unions have been doing in the situation. Many union members, even while arguing "we have to catch up with higher prices," stimulates pro-Democratic voting, since most workers regard the Republicans as "the party of business."

Earl Long Reviles Police

New Orleans —(AP)—Former Gov. Earl K. Long, who has a reputation for salty language, was arrested Wednesday night using some of it on the wrong people.

New Orleans police arrested and booked Long on five-cense for 30 days for failure to signal before turning. Gordon L. Kaphingst, of K and B Auto sales, Black Creek, was fined $10 for failure to deliver an endorsed title to the transferee.

William E. Suprise, 19, Shiocton, was fined $15 for letting a person without a driver's license operate his car.

counts stemming from a minor traffic accident. No one was injured.

He was charged with reviling police, resisting arrest, driving without an operator's license, reckless driving and disturbing the peace.

Long, paroled shortly after his arrest by Municipal Judge Andrew J. Bucaro, said he would go to court today to ask for a continuance until next Tuesday. He said he has speaking engagements for his Eighth district congressional campaign.

"I'm going to fight this thing in the courts," Long said. "I wasn't intoxicated, I wasn't speeding and I wasn't endangering anyone's life." Long said he was traveling about 20 to 25 miles per hour when the accident occurred.

New London Express Service May Change

PSC Hears Petition to Close Office, Expand Pickup, Cut Delivery Two Hours

An unopposed petition to cut the new setup, deliveries would be a half hour earlier in the morning and pickups would be made up to 4:30 p.m., an increase of an hour and a half. Freight rates would remain the same, he said, and air express rates would drop, since Appleton is an airport office delivering into the New London area.

Meisenheimer pointed out that since the Chicago and North Western railroad ended its Wrightstown stop, the agency could not enter the village. He proposed setting up an office in Greenleaf, three miles away, served by the Milwaukee Road.

Clem DeWane, Wrightstown village president, asked that the agency send a truck to the village, but Meisenheimer pointed out that it would not pay because in 1959 only $550.54 worth of business was transacted in Wrightstown.

The Wrightstown decision could take more than a month, Samuel Bryan, presiding examiner, said, but the uncontested New London petition could bring quicker decision.

Merchants Plan Sidewalk Sale For July 27

An old fashioned sidewalk sale will set the scene July 27 for shopping in downtown Appleton, Giles Flanagan, secretary of the retail division of the chamber of commerce, announced today.

Chairman of the 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. sale is Henry Williamson, assisted by David Bliss, Bernard Pearlman, W. A. Close, Richard Prenger and W. T. Bernhard.

The committee is planning to hand out pennants for the merchants to display, hang welcome flags and pipe music throughout the downtown area. Store clerks may wear old fashioned costumes.

"Last year's sale was a success even though it rained a little," Flanagan said, "and the merchants were enthusiastic."

King Dad Dons Sporty Duds for Summer Days

Pay Homage to the Special man around the house this father's day by giving him a thoroughbred sports jacket with a horse blanket look. Exceptionally lightweight and carefree, it packs beautifully and travels well, is worn in any season. This pace-setter is a natural shoulder model with flap pockets, a center vent and brass buttons.

The Image of His Father is this budding court-star wearing a tennis ensemble made of white, washable cotton, accented with red and blue stripes at wrists, neck and slash pockets. The jacket has a front zipper which insures comfortable warmth on colder days. A cotton knit shirt and pro style tennis shorts complete the outfit.

Since Most Dads are Weekend and vacation athletes, casual clothes that are comfortable and good looking are bound to be great favorites. Assure him a trim appearance with gift of cotton-dacron Bermuda shorts, topped with all-cotton pullover. Both items wash easily, stay fresh looking forever. Shorts are self-belted of Madras fabric.

A Lovelier You
By Mary Sue Miller

Parable for Teens

A maid of Colonial days learned early in life to gain the approval of the male contingent. The point is documented in these excerpts from a letter by Thomas Jefferson to his pre-teen daughter Patsy:

"Above all things and at all times let your clothes be neat, whole, and properly put on. Some ladies think they may, under the privilege of deshabille, be loose and negligent of their dress in the morning. A lady who has been seen as a sloven in the morning will never efface the impression, with all the dress and pageantry she can afterward involve.

"Nothing is so disgusting to our sex as want of cleanliness and delicacy in yours. I hope, therefore, the moment you rise from bed, your first work will be to dress yourself in such style as that you may be seen by any gentleman without his being able to discover a pin amiss, or any other circumstance wanting."

Could be, many 20th century "Patsys" might profit by the advice. For cleanliness and delicacy have not lost their appeal to the masculine mind. Just yesterday a young swain on seeing his heartbeat

to discourage South from bidding a slam. North's cue bid of four hearts not only showed the ace of that suit but also edged South on.

Declarer saw at a glance that he had to avoid the loss of a club trick one way or another. There was a slight chance of a squeeze if West had seven hearts and both the queen and jack of clubs. The next possibility was the doubleton queen — jack of clubs. And the third possibility was a singleton club honor in the West hand.

South's problem was to time the play so as to preserve each chance as long as possible.

Declarer took the first trick with the ace of hearts and drew trumps with the king, 10 and queen. East discarded two clubs and a diamond.

The next step was to knock out the ace of diamonds. West took the ace and tried to cash a heart trick South ruffed and took the queen and jack of diamonds.

By this time West had shown up with three diamonds and three trumps. Since he was known to be a conservative player, West was marked with a 6-card heart suit for his overcall at the level of two.

There was room for only one club in the West hand, so South had to reject the first two possibilities he had been considering. The only chance was a singleton club honor in the West hand.

Declarer therefore led a club to the king, rejoining when this captured West's jack. He returned a club from dummy and finessed the ten, making the slam.

Ann Advises Woman to Forget Mistakes, Rebuild Marriage

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was physically run down and mentally exhausted. I picked on my husband until he lost his temper and spoke harshly to me in front of my children. Then I threatened him with a divorce.

I told several friends we were having trouble. Then I committed the unpardonable sin of going to his mother and sister and filled them in from A to Z.

After that 4-hour visit I became so ill I couldn't do my house work. My husband called the doctor. The doctor said I was in very bad condition and ordered complete bed-rest and medication.

A month has passed and I feel like a new person. I'm so ashamed I can't look my friends or relatives in the face. My husband has been an angel—never once has he thrown up the past to me.

This letter is not a request for advice. It's only a warning to wives who may be nervous and run down to keep their mouths shut and go to a doctor.

How ugly and disloyal I must look in the eyes of others. The fact that I was sick doesn't excuse me—the damage is done.—Ashamed.

Dear Ashamed: You didn't ask for advice but I'd like to offer a few words from Omar Khayyam.

"Nor all your piety nor wit can lure it back to cancel half a line—nor all your tears wash out a word of it." In plainer language: What's in the past is finished—now forget it. Don't waste another ounce of energy punishing yourself. Concentrate instead on rebuilding your marriage.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 4-year-old daughter has started something and I don't know how to cope with her. She's been getting up in the middle of the night and crawling into bed with her father. We have a large bed but she never comes to my side, she always goes to him.

I've told my husband this habit is not a good one. He says Veronica claims it's too cold in her room (or too warm). Or she says she hears funny noises, or our bed is softer. The child has an amazing variety of excuses.

Veronica is aware that my husband and I disagree on this. She seems to be enjoying the trouble she's stirred up. Should I say nothing and let her keep this up as long as she likes? Or should this practice be stopped?—Other Half.

Dear Other: Veronica is wielding a triple-edged sword and reaping enormous satisfaction from her success.

If a child calls out during the night, he should be checked, reassured and tucked in tenderly, but he should not be rewarded by being taken into the parents' bed. Your husband should put an end to this racket promptly and if you can't get through to him, maybe your family doctor can.

DEAR ANN: My mother divorced my Dad when I was very young. She remarried a few years later. I go by my father's name, which is, of course different from my mother's name.

It's embarrassing when friends come to my home and call my mother by my last name. Also, I don't like it when her friends call me by step-father's last name.

My mother says to ignore it, but I can't. What shall I do?—P.N.

Dear P.N.: No offense is intended so don't be irritated. A brief sentence of correction will do it. Sample: "Mother's name is Hockenvasser. She has remarried."

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teenagers if you write for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Our Children

Child Should Learn Hitting Is Forbidden

BY ANGELO PATRI

Summer time allows the pre-school children to play in the open air and their mothers are understandably glad to have them do so. Usually they play in a group in someone's backyard either because it is better furnished for their play or they are more welcome there than at some of the other yards.

The mother in whose yard the group gathers becomes responsible for what goes on and she watches, looking out of the window from time to time, opening the door occasionally to caution one or another. "At least," she says, I know where mine are, and I can keep an eye on them."

Loves To Argue
 Sooner or later, there is an argument. The group loves to argue, the louder the better. Their play is unorganized, full of beginnings and short of endings but always accompanied by much talk. That is normal and not to be denied but eventually a youngster for whom words fail to express the power of his convictions, lifts his shovel and brings it down on his nearest competitor. That is not allowed and the mother in charge rushes out, examines the injured, and pronounces judgment. The shovel wielder must go home.

The ousted child's mother, may or may not, according to her temperament, accept the situation and tell the child why he was put out and tells him that hitting is bad business and is not allowed anywhere, at home or abroad.

Occasionally we meet the mother whose child can do no wrong. "He's only a little boy. He doesn't mean it. He'll play nicely if you just treat him right." That won't do.

Feet Belong on Ground
 Children must learn, that under no circumstances are they to kick anybody. Their feet must stay where they belong: on the ground, on the floor and are not ever to be lifted against anybody, any animal, anything at all. Kicking is worse than hitting and that's bad enough.

All children will hit out at what they do not like. This is a childish reaction and to be expected. But knowing why children do things that are unacceptable and which will, in time, bring trouble down on

Don't Go Downhill Girls, Keep Charm, Stay Single!

BY HAL BOYLE

New York—A—Why do women want to marry?

This is something the philosophic male often ponders. For to his unprejudiced eye, it often seems that most of the woes that befall women can be traced, directly or indirectly, to marriage.

Marriage appears to cause many of them to go to rack and ruin. Or if it doesn't, then what does? What else is there to blame?

A single girl of 22, in many ways, represents femininity at its peak. She is neat, strong, healthy, and attractive. She has a job and is financially independent. She likes sports and is well-informed on world affairs. She reads the latest books. She keeps up with everything.

In Prime of Life
 She doesn't know it, but she is in the prime of life.

What happens? Well, she listens to some wedge-headed youth who tells her, "What's a pretty dame like you doing wasting yourself behind a typewriter? Why don't you let me take you away from all this empty nonsense?"

She does. She marries the goof. And then what happens? Why she goes straight downhill. She falls apart like a wet paper bag in a hurricane. The years peel her like she was an artichoke.

Before marriage she could play 36 holes of golf and then demand, "Anybody for tennis?" After marriage she can't walk half a block without looking around for a taxi.

Before marriage she could carry a 25-pound pack on an all-day hike without help. After marriage she can't struggle into a girdle without help.

Before marriage she liked nothing better than inviting a boy friend to her apartment and dishing him up a nice meal. After marriage she suddenly can't stand her own cooking anymore. She wants to eat out at least three nights a week.

Prior Tastes
 Before marriage a nice cloth coat suited her fine. After marriage something happens to her metabolism. "I just can't take these cold winters the way I used to," she says. "I have to have a fur coat or I'll freeze to death."

Before marriage she could talk on any subject. After marriage the only topic she is really interested in is, "why don't you either ask your boss for more money, or look for a better job?"

Before marriage she loved acting as a baby sitter. After marriage she spends most of her time trying to find a baby sitter.

Lacks Help
 Before marriage half a dozen guys stood in line to help her paint her apartment. After marriage she wails, "If this house is ever going to get any new wallpaper, I guess I'll have to put it up myself."

Before marriage, when she got a new dress, everyone said, "Gee, you look pretty."

After marriage, her husband merely growls, "What'd it cost?"

Before marriage she didn't have a gray hair in her head, and she had a shape like a willow tree. After marriage—?

But why go on with it? What matrimony does to the average woman is obvious to everyone—even herself.

The puzzle remains: Why do women eagerly seek marriage, when they know its terrible price?

Suggest Man Stay In Hotel

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is engaged to a young man who lives in another state. He will be coming here soon for a week. My daughter would like him to stay at our house. I am a widow and of necessity have to work and cannot take the time off at the time he will be here. I leave rather early in the morning and do not come home until late afternoon which means they will be home alone most of the day. Under the circumstances, do you think it would be proper for him to stay here or would it be best if he stayed at a nearby hotel?

Feels Unwelcome

Dear Mrs. Post: My son was married about a year ago. We have been invited to his house on several occasions, but the invitations have always come from my son. Not once has his wife called to invite us to anything. Maybe I am being very finicky, but I think that she should call and do the inviting—at least some of the time, and I am beginning to feel that we are not welcome.

Answer: It would be reassuring and thoughtful of your daughter-in-law to invite you herself some of the time, but she probably does not in the least realize how you feel, and thinks that as you and your son talk together frequently it is simpler to let him do the inviting.

Retirement Gift

Dear Mrs. Post: I will be retiring soon and I feel sure that the office will present me with a present the day I leave. Will you please tell me how I can show my appreciation?

Answer: Nothing more than your sincere thanks warmly given when you say goodbye will be necessary. After all, you have surely contributed your share to presents for retiring employees in the past, and now it is your turn to benefit from the generosity of those you are leaving.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette.

Vignettes of Parade Watchers

BY JEAN HAMMOND

A parade's a good show, and the one which marched down Appleton's streets Saturday afternoon was one of the best. But notice. While the main event takes place in the center ring, countless little bits of drama occur on the sidelines.

In front of a drug store three old men, sweaters buttoned up tight against the chill damp air, talk fishing. "And I had three before I even got my wife's hook in the water. Was she mad! Ready to dance in the boat, she was."

"Yeah, you're a lucky man. A stout woman wearing a trench coat and scarf walks wearily in worn white sandals. Two little girls, perfectly dressed in navy wool coats, patent leather shoes, and crisp white bonnets clutch her hands. The woman looks down with pride.

The Cap's the Thing

An old man in torn overalls wearing a half inch stubble of gray beard on his chin crosses the street. He stops at the curb, and takes from a bag a yellow and black ivy league golfer's cap. He puts the bag between his knees and fits the cap on his head, moving it around a bit and adjusting the visor at a jaunty angle. Then he crumples the bag and drops it in the gutter.

A young woman, not quite able to cover the clips in her hair with a bandana, pushes a buggy occupied by a sleeping infant.

It takes a long time for the marchers to reach College avenue from their starting place. While people wait, the dime stores do a booming business in popcorn and ices. Teen agers giggle and babies cry and little boys fidget. Mothers scold. Fathers stand aloof. The air becomes charged with expectation.

A freckle faced red haired boy emerges from a sport shop carrying a new golf club. For a moment he seems surprised to see the crowd; then, remembering, he joins them on the sidewalk.

Down the street an old man wearing a gray work shirt and trousers, a green cap and tan loafers leans against a ladies' apparel shop window. Behind him a mannequin in a black lace formal seems about to tap him on the shoulder.

Two boys, their shirts and trousers not quite meeting, stand looking at the crowd. "As I was sayin', Nick, there's a lotta odd balls in this town," one shakes his head wisely. They link arms and cross to the other side.

Far down the street the sound of a band startles the waiting crowd. Kids run to the center of the road to look.

It's Coming, Ma

"It's coming! Hey, Ma, it's coming."

An old man with a long nose and deep furrows between his eyes walks to the curb and sits down.

The first high stepping band moves past. A lady with salt and pepper colored hair chews gum in time to the music. A child with a haircut which makes it appear neuter pushes a stroller into the street. A man with false teeth labors over candy orange slices.

Two ladies, oblivious to the noise and the crowd come out of a bridal shop carrying two hoop skirted bridal slips. They turn the corner without so much as a glance at the celebration.

A lady who has been asking her husband to take her home bursts into tears as the first band moves down the street. "What's the matter?" the man puts his hand on her shoulder.

"I told you," she says, wiping her wet cheeks, "I don't like parades. I can't help it. It makes me think of my childhood. . . when all my uncles. . . and my father used to march. I can't help it."

They turn together and walk away from the noise, the excitement, the crowd. One more bit of human drama being played on the sidelines.

This is Appleton.

State Colleges' Teachers, Heads Get Pay Increases

Regents Distribute 4 Per Cent Boost, but Faculties Want More

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — The board of state college regents Wednesday passed out a substantial second round of salary boosts to college presidents, deans and teachers, but was promptly told that the faculties will demand substantial higher pay increases during the next two years.

The regents distributed the 4 per cent salary boosts authorized by the 1959 legislature. A general 8 per cent pay increase was given a year ago. But a spokesman for the Wisconsin Association of State College faculties announced at the meeting that it wants a 15 per cent additional increase next year, followed by an 18 per cent raise for the year succeeding.

Gov. Nelson has already been told about the demand, said William Cochran, Eau Claire, new president of the faculty association.

Regents were non-committal when they heard Cochran's announcement. Their action will depend on the availability of funds from the 1961 legislature. Board Chairman W. D. McIntyre, Eau Claire, commented that we "are generally sympathetic with your goals, but we may disagree about details."

Affects 900 Teachers

There are about 900 teachers in the 9-college system which expects an enrollment of about 16,000 for the fall term.

The board approved an operating budget for the system for next year of about $16,600,000, or nearly $2,000,000 above that of last year.

The pay boosts approved were a percentage of salary so that the dollar amounts varied by rank. The average professor next year will have a raise of $400 a year, and 4 per cent salary boosts authorized by the 1959 legislature. About two-thirds of the college faculties are hired for summer session work, for which they receive additional pay equivalent to two months of regular salary.

Presidents Get Raise

College presidents got $1,500 a year increases, to a new level of $17,000, and Director Nelson has been appointed as secretary of the regents. McPhee was raised $2,000 to $19,000. McPhee reported that student admissions applications board.

for the nine colleges are running well above the rate of previous years, but he guessed that there are many duplicate applications representing students who apply in several places because of the fear of being rejected at some crowded institutions. Such duplicate admissions are experienced at most private and public schools today, he said.

Regents deferred for a month a proposal to limit the tenure of the board of regents' chairman.

Asks Specific Policy

Mrs. Gordon McIntyre of Appleton, named to the board in 1959, asked for a specific policy on the length of time board officers can serve and got informal support from others among Gov. Nelson's recent appointees.

She explained later that she is not aiming at the continued service of board chairman McIntyre, Eau Claire businessman and a prominent Republican who has headed the board for more than a decade and apparently expects to be reelected at the annual meeting in July.

But Mrs. Ferdinand Hinton, Hinton's candidate for president, said that "Republicans might hold power for 50 years and we as party, displaying red, white and blue buttons and might get tired of the same white, and blue buttons and chairman." Regents serve five year terms. Chairman McIntyre has been appointed to the board three times, by different governors. Gov. Nelson and 5.

AEC Gives Lawrence $8,146 for Study of Radiation Techniques

Teacher to Spend Five Weeks at Oak Ridge Learning Safe, Proper Use of Equipment

Lawrence college has been granted $8,146 worth of equipment for the study of radioisotope techniques by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Dr. W. Paul Gilbert, Philletus Sawyer professor of physics on the campus, will attend a special training course at Oak Ridge, Tenn., to learn proper and safe use of the new equipment.

His 5-week course of study is being underwritten by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Shell Oil company.

The main pieces to come to

Lawrence include a radiation analyzer for the counting of gamma rays; a gas-flow counter and scaling apparatus for the study of metabolism in biological organisms through the use of radioactive carbon as a tracer; instruments for scintillation, Geiger and proportional counting and monitors for checking the level of radiation in the laboratory.

The new equipment will be used in general instruction as well as student and faculty research in physics, chemistry, biology and geology.

One of 26

Chairman John A. McCone of the AEC said the "grant is one made to 26 American colleges and universities as a part of the commission's program of assistance for isotope technology and health safety training as related to the physical and engineering science."

"These grants," he said, "were selected from proposals received from qualified institutions that have not received previous AEC training assistance. The grants announced today bring to $794,365 the total amount awarded to 66 institutions since the isotope training program was initiated late in 1958."

Correction

Vincent J. Bressers, 35, of 607 S. Christine street, who last week was fined $75 in municipal court for reckless driving, was arrested April 25 by Kimberly police, not the state patrol as reported June 9. Kimberly police asked in court for a reduction of an original drunken driving charge to reckless driving.

Why Lean on U. S. Aid? Questions Ald. Tucker

Declares Appleton Should Pay Entire Bill For Sewage Treatment Plant Addition

"Why in heaven should Appleton have to lean on the federal government to exist?" Ald. Austin Tucker wants to know.

His question touched off a brief debate at Wednesday's city council meeting after City Clerk Elden Broehm read the resolution authorizing application for federal aid for the new secondary sewage treatment plant.

Tucker wanted to know why the city had to "continually keep asking for help on purely local projects." It's not reasonable, he said, and "some day these handouts are going to have to stop."

City Deserves Grant

Ald. Ervin Bogan countered, "Why shouldn't Appleton get its share of these grants, the people here are paying some of the tax money used for them. Everyone else is getting them and so should we."

Ald. R. P. Groh dampened the debate, commenting "I think this whole discussion is out of order. This is all related to partisan politics in the federal government and we are a non-partisan group on a municipal level."

The resolution passed 16 to 1, with Tucker casting the only dissenting vote.

July 1 Deadline

The board of public works had a special meeting prior to the council session to draft the resolution because it must be filed in Madison by July 1. The resolution will be accompanied by a set of plans from the architect and cost estimates. Director of Public Works Edwin Duszynski expects to receive the plans and cost estimates next week.

It is expected the cost will be about $1 million.

If the grant is received Appleton would get 30 per cent of the cost or $250,000, whichever is less.

Paving of S. Oneida street from the south end of the new bascule bridge to McKinley street is scheduled to start in a few days. The street has been widened and relocated, and the grade elevation lowered by cutting away part of a hill. Pictured above is the new Oneida-Lincoln streets intersection.

Mercury Lights Shed Pallor of Death, Irate Citizen Contends

Will Ruin Neighborhood Atmosphere, Just As if Done in New Orleans French Quarter

Mercury street lights make you look like you're ready for the undertaker, a property owner told the city council Wednesday.

"Your lips turn blue and your skin green," Joseph Cannon, 211 N. Appleton street, said. "These lights may be all right on College avenue, where the need for light is simply for safety and as a deterrent to looting by burglars, but shouldn't be used on other streets."

Cannon spoke for eight property owners on N. Appleton street and six on N. Washington street, all of whom signed letters of objection to a special assessments resolution.

Ruins Atmosphere

"Mercury lights are out of keeping with the atmosphere of these streets," Cannon declared. "It would be like putting them in the French quarter of New Orleans."

Objections also came from Ald. Austin Tucker and Kenneth Priebe, and from the Chicago North Western railroad.

Ornamental lights are to go on Appleton and Oneida streets from Washington street north to the railroad tracks and on three sections of Washington street — from Superior to Division, Appleton to Oneida and Oneida to Morrison.

Questions Project

"North Appleton street is the most lighted block in the city, I don't see why we need new lights. I'm sure the property owners could make good use of the money the special assessments will cost them. And we should make better use of the taxpayers' money," contended Priebe.

Ald. Tucker asked if it wasn't customary to follow the wishes of property owners on these projects. His question was ruled out of order by Mayor Mitchell.

Tucker was told the council makes decisions.

Tucker then requested the portion of the resolution for lights on Washington street be sent back to committee, but lost because there were three objections.

Work Approved

The whole argument was quashed when Ald. Roylance Pointer said, "Gentlemen, I'm afraid you're too late, the material has been bought and the construction contract awarded."

Last month the council okayed $6,742 worth of materials and a low bid of $21,720 by Mullen Electric company to do the work.

Ald. Homer Malmstrom

the cost is different because of higher construction bids. The Mullen company, which also did the work last year, said it was a more difficult job than anticipated and actually lost money, thus the higher bid this year.

Because of increased cost the front foot assessment this year comes to $5.66. But the city is not assessing this amount. The board of public works felt it was only fair to keep the assessment for this year's work the same as last year's $5 because benefits received will be identical.

As a result the city is paying $7,730.70 of the bill for the 1960 portion of the project.

Entire cost for downtown ornamental lighting is $48,107.80, according to Electrical Inspector Fred Volkman. The 1959 portion of the work cost $19,645.80, and this year's part $28,462.

Although the amount of work to be done this year is about the same as last year's

Party Picks Delegates for State Meeting

Chilton — Calumet county Democrats Tuesday elected delegates to the party's state convention at Milwaukee next weekend.

Delegates include John Barnett, Martin Salm, Mrs. Lucille Flemming, Mrs. Rosemary Fox and Edward S. Eick, all of Chilton; Clinton Schultz, Hilbert; Paul Schwalbach, route 4, Appleton, and Emil Steiner, route 2, New Holstein.

Don Bonk, Chilton, will attend as county chairman.

Stories Differ In 'Attempted Holdup' Case

An Appleton taxi driver told police Wednesday afternoon that two men attempted to rob him. The men told police the incident was all a misunderstanding.

No charges have been filed in the case.

The cabbie said two men in a car pulled up behind his taxi at Badger and Wisconsin avenues about 5:17 p.m. Wednesday. He said one of the men got out of the car and into the cab saying "you can't park here." The driver said the man appeared to reach for but did not touch a change container.

The driver said he told the man to leave or he would call police. The man said to go ahead and call. He then returned to his car and he and his companion left the scene.

A county patrolman about 8:25 p.m. picked up the two men and a woman. After questioning, one of the men admitted getting into the cab but denied reaching for the change container. He said he simply wanted to ask the cab driver why he had stopped in front of their car.

The incident, at noon today, appeared to be closed.

Tomato-Cheese Ice
2 tablespoons grated Roquefort cheese
3 ounces cream cheese
1 teaspoon grated onion
1 teaspoon Worcestershire
1 teaspoon salt
dash of pepper
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 cups tomato juice
2 stiffly beaten egg whites
Cream together grated Roquefort cheese and cream cheese. Add onion, Worcestershire sauce, salt, pepper, and lemon juice. Add gradually tomato juice, blending smoothly. Pour into freezing tray and freeze until all but a portion of the center is frozen. Then remove from tray, break up in a bowl and beat smooth with a chilled rotary beater. Quickly fold in beaten egg whites, return to freezing tray and serve in sherbet glasses when frozen. This is a delicious first course. Serves six.

Chicken Mousse With Cream
1 cup chicken, cut fine
1 cup well seasoned stock
2 egg yolks, well beaten
Celery salt
Cayenne pepper
1 tablespoon gelatin
1 cup whipped cream
3 egg whites
Salt to taste
Combine first five ingredients, bring to a simmer, just enough to cook yolks. Cool. Then add gelatin (which has been soaked in one-half cup cold water and dissolved in a little hot water), the whipped cream, eggs (beaten dry) and salt. Beat well. Pour into wet mold to congeal. Unmold, serve on lettuce with mayonnaise. Serves four.

Asparagus Mousseline
1 can asparagus tips
1 rib celery
1 cup consommé
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika
2 sprigs parsley
2 small onions
4 slices carrot
1 tablespoon gelatin
1 cup cold water
1 cup cream (whipped stiff)
Line small molds with top half of tips. Cook together for 15 minutes remainder of asparagus, celery, consommé, parsley, onion, and carrot. Put all through sieve, making one cup liquid. Add salt, paprika and gelatin which has been soaked in cold water and dissolved over heat. Put mixture on ice to cool. When it begins to set, gently but thoroughly, stir in whipped cream. Pour into molds over tips. Set to congeal. Unmold and serve on lettuce with mayonnaise. Serves six.

Apple Meringue Surprise Tarts Easy to Make

Surprise Tarts are apple pie, ice cream and confection all in one. Apple fancies to serve a merry mood.

They're so easy to put together, too. Simply use your favorite brand of apple sauce, ice cream from you know where, a whirl of meringue... then into the oven the tarts go for the skippy seconds it takes to golden the meringue.

Apple Surprise Tart
2 cups canned apple sauce
1/2 cup light brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon allspice
6 baked individual pastry shells
1 pint vanilla ice cream
2 egg whites
6 tablespoons sugar
Combine apple sauce, brown sugar, nutmeg, cinnamon and allspice; cook slowly, stirring occasionally, until mixture is rather thick. Chill. Just before serving, spoon an equal amount of chilled apple sauce into the six pastry shells. Beat egg whites stiff, gradually add sugar, beating constantly, until stiff. Put a spoonful of ice cream into the center of each tart, cover with meringue mixture, having meringue come to edges of the pastry to completely cover the ice cream. Bake in very hot oven, 450 degrees, several seconds to brown tops. Serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

Here's a Modern, New twist for the old-fashioned popper our grandfathers used in open fireplaces. Take it outdoors and pop corn over the charcoal grill. Follow the same methods for popping corn on the indoor range. Simply add a little cooking oil to cover the bottom of the pan. When oil is hot, add two or three test kernels of popcorn. As soon as they pop, put in enough corn to cover the bottom of the pan, which should never be more than one-kernel deep. Children will love to hold a pop-out, with or without a picnic meal.

Skiller Club Pudding Makes Savory Partner for Chicken

BY FRANK KOHLER
Yorkshire Chicken was brought home from England by our brother, John, he of the engineering turn of mind.

As usual, we prefer buying chicken parts, so there'll be no argument — but you can use small fryers, disjointed, or cut in serving pieces. Use at least a 13 by 9 by 2-inch pan for this operation.

We simmer the chicken in one quart of boiling water or a bit more if necessary. We add

1 cup flour.
Salt and pepper.
2 eggs, well beaten.
1 cup milk.
Melted butter.
1-3 cup butter.
1-3 cup flour.
1-3 cup light cream.

Simmer chicken, covered, as outlined above, for 45 minutes. Remove chicken and strain and save the broth. Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Pour about 1-inch of salad oil in the pan and get pan very hot.

Meanwhile, make a batter by sifting the flour with one teaspoon salt and a dash of pepper, and combining with the eggs beaten with the milk. Beat until very smooth.

Yorkshire pudding, for each serving, and serve the gravy over it.

Peas Bon Femme
We prefer to serve Peas Bon Femme with this. You may use two thawed packages of frozen peas but, when available, we like fresh new peas, and you need four pounds of them. Put the shelled peas in cold water, bring to a boil, then drain. Put the peas in a large saucepan.

Cut a small head of lettuce into six wedges, and add to the peas. Cut 12 small scallions or green onions in half and drop them in, along with one cup rich chicken broth (you should have enough from the Yorkshire chicken), salt and pepper to taste, and a thin slice of salt pork, diced very fine. Bring all to a quick boil, then simmer gently.

With the fingers, work one tablespoon butter with three tablespoons flour, and drop this mixture into the pan, bit by bit. Also stir in one-eighth teaspoon dried basil.

When peas are tender, turn the whole into a sieve or colander and let drain, then turn the resultant product into a hot serving dish and serve hot.

Chilled Soup Excellent for Hot Weather

With the arrival of summer, we find it is an almost general custom in restaurants to offer cold Vichysoise as an introduction to lunch or dinner. The title given this soup seems to make it more appealing than when it is called what it actually is — a thin potato soup.

This is a very easy soup to make at home now that instant mashed potatoes are available. It may be enriched with cream, as it usually is when served at a restaurant, or it may be made entirely with milk as the liquid. If it is thoroughly chilled and each cup is topped with minced parsley or chives, it will be accepted as Vichysoise by most of the family.

There are a number of arguments as to how this soup gained its title. Visitors to the noted French Spa Vichy have not found this soup on a typical menu, although a potage of carrots is a popular soup served there. The Vichysoise we know in this country was apparently originated here, probably by a French chef.

The famous chef Escoffier prefers the title Creme Gauloise for this rich cold soup. His recipe calls for leeks, but as these are not too common these days, they may be replaced by scallions or sweet onions.

Fragrance of Gingerbread Baking Well Remembered

BY HAYDN S. PEARSON
It is difficult to describe a fragrance, but I remember the tantalizing, spicy, nostril-tickling aroma when Mother baked her gingerbread in the big, gleaming, woodburning kitchen range.

Memories play tricks when a man is 50, but it seems to me that Mother spent most of Saturday baking pies, cookies, turnovers and cakes. I know we had gingerbread frequently and both Father and I were partial to it.

In those long - ago days on the farm, we had wonderful Guernsey cream for whipping, and hot gingerbread with whipped cream was a favorite desert for Saturday's noon meal, or to conclude the baked bean supper. I worked quite a spell to get today's flavored formula, and it hits me just about right.

Gingerbread
Use two eggs beaten, three-fourths cup brown sugar, three - fourths cup molasses, three - fourths cup melted shortening, three-fourths teaspoon ginger, one and one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon, one - eighth teaspoon cloves, one-half teaspoon nutmeg, two and one-third cups flour, two teaspoons soda, one-half teaspoon baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one cup boiling water.

In a large bowl, mix in the order given. Sift the spices, soda, baking powder and salt with the flour. Add boiling water last. Beat everything well and do an honest job. Bake at 325 degrees for about 40 minutes, or until done.

Touch of Garlic

If you want to add slivers of garlic to beef you are going to pot roast, insert a small sharp knife deep into the meat at intervals; poke garlic slivers into the slashed places.

Tomato Cup Salads Take to Broiling

Ever hear of a broiled salad? Take five large tomatoes, cut off tops and scoop out the pulp. Combine one cup diced meat, two hard cooked eggs, one-half cup cooked peas and two tablespoons butter. Fill the tomato cups with this mixture. Dot with butter.

Place on broiler rack six inches from the heat and broil for 10 minutes or until lightly browned.

Creamed Onions

Wonderful to have on hand are canned small whole onions for quick preparation a variety of ways. For a company dish serve them in a sauce of condensed cream of mushroom soup and sliced stuffed olives. Add a bit of sugar. Mix well; heat.

Old Word Taking on New Meaning

In Informal Contacts of Clergy

BY TOM HENSHAW

New York — An old word is taking on a new religious meaning in America. The word is dialogue.

It refers chiefly to the increasing number of informal contacts between clergymen of the Roman Catholic, Orthodox and Protestant faiths. Seems aimless.

On the surface, dialogue seems aimless. "One is not out to convert the other," says the Rev. John B. Sheerin, a Paulist Father who has followed the trend with interest.

"But each comes away with a better idea of what the other fellow is thinking."

Dialogue might take various forms.

Theological Discussion It could be, as happened in New York recently, a Catholic priest, a Lutheran pastor and a Dutch Reformed minister sitting down to dinner together and then engaging in a brisk but amiable theological discussion in the relaxed atmosphere of after-dinner cigars.

Or it could be, as happened in Boston last month, a large number of Protestant ministers being invited to the Paulist center to compare theology with several priests over coffee and cookies.

The idea of dialogue is running particularly strong among Catholics.

More Articles More and more articles are appearing in Catholic journals of opinion like Commonweal and America, re-examining Protestant-Catholic relations with the emphasis on points of similarity.

Father Sheerin attributes the heightened Catholic interest to Pope John XXIII's announcement in January, 1959, of the coming ecumenical conference of the church.

While the conference concerns itself strictly with Catholic matters, the Pope added that it "is intended also as an invitation to the separated communities in quest of unity."

Not Magic Carpet Those who have taken part in dialogue emphasize that it is not a magic carpet over which the dissenting churches will move swiftly and spectacularly to Christian unity.

"We don't think of it much in the terms of the immediate future," says Father Sheerin.

Says Dr. Keith Bridston, secretary of the World Council of Churches' Faith and Order Movement:

Never See Unity "A minister told me recently 'neither I, who am an old man, nor you, who are a young man, will live to see Christian unity.'"

"But members of the dialogue are becoming aware that they represent but different aspects of the same tradition. When they trace back their lines of origin they find they coincide at the same root."

"There is a growing feeling," says Father Sheerin, "that Catholics should mix more with those outside the church in secular organizations."

Tenants Leave New Judiciary Will be Moving Into Wisconsin Supreme Court

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — The solemn chambers of the Wisconsin state supreme court will have a succession of new judicial tenants soon.

Chief Justice John E. Martin of the court has announced that he will not run for a new term after his present 10-year term expires next year. One Milwaukee circuit court judge has already announced that he will run for the office in the elections in the spring of 1961, and another prominent lawyer is reportedly also preparing.

The departure of Chief Justice Martin will move to the top office of the court for a brief period Justice Grover L. Broadfoot, Mondovi, 68, who has told friends that he is not likely to want to continue serving after 70. Slightly older than Broadfoot is Justice Timothy Brown, Madison. The successor to Broadfoot, therefore, is likely to be Justice George Currie of Sheboygan, 60.

Complicated Amendment

The succession to seniority of seven judges is complicated by the mandatory retirement age, 70, imposed in a constitutional amendment a few years ago — does not apply to the judges who were holding office when it was adopted. Thus Judge Martin's planned retirement is voluntary. But his present term expires next November, coincidentally with his birthday, so that he would be able to serve

Judge Brown until the end of 1963, since they were already in office when the 70-year-old rule was imposed. Judge Broadfoot will be 70 in December, 1962. Judge Brown is now 71.

Judge Currie will be entitled to serve out his present term, which runs until 1968, and a part of a succeeding term, under the pension act.

Most observers believe that Circuit Judge Myron Gordon, Milwaukee, a 42-year-old jurist who had a career in Democratic politics before he got on a lower court bench about 12 years ago, has a head start in next spring's election.

Non-Partisan Election

Gordon is reputed to be an energetic campaigner and he is a central figure in the powerful new political force built around Henry Maier, the new mayor of Milwaukee. Gordon and Maier were political associates in their earlier years.

The state judicial elections are non-partisan, but prominent Republicans and Democrats have competed in them, and have benefitted from partisan activity.

Bruno Bitker, a prominent Democratic lawyer in Milwaukee, wants to make another try for the court but has not

Non-Academic Leaves May Help Teachers

Stint in Capital May Bring Better Text, Regent Says

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Regents of the state colleges Wednesday debated briefly the tendency of some college teachers to depart periodically for higher paying non-teaching jobs while retaining their faculty tenure, but concluded that such experiences might make them better instructors when they return.

Charles Graham, political science teacher at the state college at River Falls, left his classroom last March to become a member of the staff of Democratic Sen. William Proxmire in Washington, reportedly at higher pay than the college gave him. Graham asked for an additional year's leave and the board was preparing to grant it routinely when Regent Eugene Murphy of LaCrosse objected.

Teachers don't have a right to go off for higher paying jobs while retaining their faculty job positions and depriving others on the staff of promotions in rank, he asserted.

One or the Other

"They should either be teachers or politicians," he added.

Board Chairman W. D. McIntyre explained that traditionally the regents have granted leaves of a year for almost any purpose, "but after that they're on their own."

Murphy said he had no objection to leaves for work directly related to educational training, and he emphasized that he would object to a teacher being detoured into the office of Republican Sen. Wiley too.

Board Secretary E. R. McPhee chimed into report that Prof. Arthur Peterson of Eau Claire state is now on leave for work with the Republican national committee. McPhee also noted that expenses involved in holding the temporary political jobs often offset the higher pay received.

President Eugene Kleinpell of River Falls state said Graham would "return a better man and I'm not sure he belongs to Sen. Proxmire's party."

But Chairman McIntyre had the last word.

Perhaps such experiences will enable the political science professors to write more sensible textbooks, he said.

"The one they're using now at Eau Claire college is silly—the worst book I ever read," said the board chairman, who has had a considerable experience of practical politics in his own right.

Jailer Denies Lively Candidate Telephone in Cell

Atlanta — A candidate for county prosecutor can't have a telephone to do his campaigning from a jail cell, Attorney Reuben Garland, who seeks the Democratic nomination as solicitor general of the Fulton county (Atlanta) judicial circuit, is serving a contempt of court sentence.

The 40-day jail term was imposed by Judge Jephtha C. Tankaley following a trial in February, 1959.

Garland, whose client was acquitted, appealed the sentence to higher state courts where it was upheld recently. After he surrendered to begin serving the term his request for a telephone in his cell was denied by Jailer Carl W. Smithwick. But Garland spent the first few hours of his sentence dictating nearly 200 pages of notes to his secretary.

The seventh annual Fox Cities Amateur Golf tournament will be played June 25-26 on the Appleton Municipal and the Neenah Ridgeway courses. This is the second straight year and the fourth time altogether that this particular combination of courses will serve as the locale for the Appleton Post-Crescent-sponsored competition.

The first 18 holes this year will be played at "Muni" June 25. The area's top private and public-course players will shoot the final 18 at Ridgeway June 26.

Golfers have only seven days to file their entries—the shortest filing period in the tourney's history. Entries are being accepted from today until midnight, Wednesday, June 22. Golfers may file either by mail or in person at the Post-Crescent Sports department. Don Strutz, the only golfer who has won the tourney more than once, captured his third title last year. Bob Ferrel was the runnerup for the second straight year.

In the team competition, which will again be held in conjunction with the individuals' battle, BDM won for the fourth time in six years. Reid Muni was second.

Tourney eligibility is restricted to golfers who have a handicap of 10 or less and who live in the Fox Cities area or are affiliated with one of the seven golf organizations: Ridgeway, BDM, Fox Valley, Reid Muni, Bridgewood, Riverview and North Shore. The entry fee is $5.

The St. Louis Cardinals are seven games behind, and the Chicago Cubs trail by 9½. But they are the two top clubs in any pennant plans Pittsburgh has at the moment in the National league race.

The Pirates have a 3-game lead—biggest bulge of the season in the majors—after socking second place San Francisco, 14-6, Wednesday. They pulled five games away from third-place Milwaukee after the Braves managed no more than a split with the Cubs in a two-night doubleheader.

Fifth Win in 6 Games
But while the Cubs, winning 8-5 after a 5-4 loss, kept the Braves from closing in, the Cardinals continued to look like possible challengers with a 6-0 victory over Cincinnati. It was the fifth success in six games for the fourth-place Cards, who took three of four from the Pirates last weekend. They did it behind the 3-hit pitching of rookie Ray Sadecki.

Los Angeles walloped last-place Philadelphia, 14-2, in the other NL game.

The Pirates battered Billy O'Dell (2-6) and five relievers for 19 hits while running

Former Fox Stiffles Eau Claire In Northern Loop

By The Associated Press
Jerry Alford, who started the season with Fox Cities of the Three-I league, put himself in the Northern league record books Wednesday night by hurling a 7-inning no-hitter for Aberdeen against Eau Claire. Alford walked four and struck out seven as the teams split a twin bill. Eau Claire won the second game, 5-2, after Alford's 7-0 opener. The youngster walked the bases full in the second but struck out the side to ease his only jam.

The tight race loosened a bit with league-leading Grand Forks topping St. Cloud, 9-2, dropping the Rox into the basement. Duluth - Superior stopped Minot, 8-5 to take over second place. Fargo-Moorhead climbed out of last place, 5-4, over Winnipeg.

Investigators Watch For Racketeers' Moves In Johansson Bout

Senate Counsel Claims Boxing Is 'Rotten From Top to Bottom'

Washington — Senate investigators said today they are watching for any moves by racketeers to cash in on the Johansson-Patterson heavyweight championship bout Monday.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) told a reporter he had authorized this scrutiny. Kefauver heads the senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee now investigating underworld influence in professional boxing.

Two days of public hearings which ended Wednesday concluded the first phase of the study.

Federal Regulation
Rand Dixon, the subcommittee's chief counsel, charged that boxing is "rotten from top to bottom" and needs federal regulation.

The subcommittee already had disclosed that Ingemar Johansson, the Swedish world heavyweight champion, and Floyd Patterson will be witnesses in later hearings on alleged irregularities concern ing the promotion side of their first bout a year ago. Kefauver said he felt it was only logical that "if we look at the first Johansson-Patterson bout, we should also look at the other."

John G. Bonomi, Dixon's associate counsel, added that "all aspects of every important bout" are under scrutiny.

During the two days of hearings:

1. Former middleweight champion Jake LaMotta related that he had lost a fixed fight in 1947 to Billy Fox. He said he turned down a $100,000 bribe offer, but agreed to lose in return for the promise of a future chance at the title he finally won in 1949.

2. Irving Misher, a convict and former money lender in the underworld, swore he has been threatened with harm if he tells what he knows of mobsters' money deals in the

Fox Cities and Des Moines, hot in pursuit of league-leading Cedar Rapids and second-place Sioux City, swept doubleheaders Wednesday night to tighten up the Three-I league race.

Third-place Fox Cities moved within a half-game of the top, with 6-5, 20-2 wins over Burlington. Des Moines made it 13 out of the last 14 by sweeping Lincoln, 7-0 and 21-9, putting the Demons only two lengths out of first.

Hubbard Winner
Sioux City, meanwhile, gained a virtual tie for the opener, and Pat Gillick fanned nine in winning the 9-inning nightcap. The 18-run victory margin is the largest in the Foxes' 3-year history. The only time a Fox Cities team has scored more than 20 was in a 22-7 rout of Burlington here last year.

Powell's 3-run homer off the light pole in deep right center field got the Foxes off to a first-inning first-game lead. Ripken and Ward hit solo homers in the fourth and seventh, respectively. Symeon struck out Pete Sala in the Bees' seventh with the tying run on second.

Cubs Sign Bonus Hurler, Sell Moryn to Cards

Milwaukee — The Chicago Cubs early today announced the sale of veteran outfielder Walt Moryn to the St. Louis Cardinals for an undisclosed amount of cash and one minor league infielder.

Moryn, 34, was told the transaction after he collected three hits in four times at bat, boosting his average to .293 as the Cubs defeated Milwaukee, 8-5, in the second game of a two-night doubleheader. The Braves won the first game, 5-4.

The move made room on the Cub roster for Dan Murphy, the Massachusetts schoolboy pitching sensation the club acquired for a bonus reportedly in excess of $100,000.

Obtain McKnight
In the second part of the trade, the Cubs obtained Jim McKnight, now with Memphis of the Southern association. He was shipped to the Cub Houston farm in the American association.

Moryn came to the Cubs in 1955. In four seasons with the Bruins, through last year, Moryn hit 82 home runs.

Moryn started in professional baseball in 1948 with Sheboygan of the Wisconsin State League. He worked up through the Dodger system with stops at Mobile, Montreal, St. Paul before coming to the parent club.

His lifetime major league batting average through 1959 is .267.

Murphy said he has been told he will play outfield until Manager Lou Boudreau makes up his mind where he wants the boy.

Murphy had an 11-0 pitching record this year. In three varsity high school seasons his mound mark is 26-6. During the same span his batting average have climbed steadily—.386, .446 and .460.

Ortiz Offers Rematch After Split Decision

Duilio Loi Says He Reinjured Hand In Second Round

San Francisco — Junior welterweight champion Carlos Ortiz changed his tune today and offered Italian Duilio Loi, loser in a close and grueling 15-round title fight, a rematch.

Ortiz, 23-year-old Puerto Rican-born New Yorker, contended before the first round bell that Wednesday night's nationally televised title bout would be a warm-up, a stepping stone to a battle with Joe Brown who holds the more lucrative lightweight boxing crown.

But after the split decision verdict, Ortiz commented, "Sure I'd give Loi a rematch. I think it would be a terrific match and would fill the Cow Palace."

Only 4,252 paying fans showed up at the 16,000 seat arena, paying a gross $20,411 to watch Ortiz, 137, and Loi, 140, belt each other.

Loi, 31, who lost only his second of 112 fights, said he reinjured his hand in the second round. The hurt fist had caused a 2-week postponement.

Loi said he would welcome a rematch.

Referee Vern Bybee and Judge Matt Zidich scored the fight even after 13. Judge Fred Bottaro had Ortiz two points in front.

Beebe scored the last two rounds, both furious, for Ortiz. Zidich saw them for Loi; Bottaro had them even. The AP gave each a round.

The final verdict: Bybee and Bottaro for Ortiz, 145-143 and 148-146; Zidich for Loi, 145-143. The AP had it for Ortiz, 145-143.

AAL, Valley Cab Score Triumphs In Girls' League

Aid Association for Lutherans and Fox Valley Cab teams posted victories in the opening games of the Girls Fast-Pitch Softball league.

AAL scored a 14-6 victory over Sindhil's and Fox Valley Cab counted a 32-21 marathon win over Appleton Coated Paper.

The Fox Valley Cab win was spiced by a combined total of 10 homers by the teams. The winners had six of the circuit blows.

Pam Schroeder had a homer and two other hits in a losing cause for Sindhil's.

'Bud' Jentz Jolts 276 Pin Count

"Bud" Jentz rattled the maples for a 276 singleton and Joe Theisen had a 805 four-game series to split the individual honors in the Summer 3-Man Scratch league at Hahn's alleys.

Other top counts included a 797 series by "Tex" Techlin, 793 by Wally Winter and 772 by John Plach.

Wava Johnson and Dot Davis shared honors in the Some-Like-It-Hot League at Hahn's, with a 190 singleton and a 506 series, respectively.

boxing business. He invoked the fifth amendment.

3. New York police detective Frank Marrone, a specialist in racketeering, testified that racketeer Frankie Carbo is the undisputed overlord of professional boxing.

Marrone said Carbo has delegated iron hand powers to mobster "Blinky" Palermo to run the sport until Carbo finishes a 2-year prison sentence for undercover activities in boxing.

Presides at Hearings

Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich), who presided at the hearings while Kefauver was in Tennessee, told a newspaperman it is too early to say whether federal controls are needed.

Mishel refused to say who had voiced the threats. But Mishel did say the threats were less than a month ago on May 20 or 21.

"Are we to understand these mobsters' hands—their influence—extends plum into the prisons so you are fearful to tell us who threatened your life?" Dixon demanded.

"It's a pretty picture when right into the prison itself there is enough influence to influence the witness... so he is in fear of his life."

Bets On Bout

John G. Bonomi, subcommittee associate counsel, sought through questions—which Mishel wouldn't answer—to develop a picture of Mishel as front man for Carbo, the boxing racketeer in placing bets on a fixed bout.

Marrone, called to give his knowledge of Carbo, said he based his testimony on a long investigation he conducted on an assignment to the staff of New York District Atty. Frank S. Hogan.

Italy's Duilio Loi, Right, welterweight champion of Europe, bounces a right off the head of junior welterweight champion Carlos Ortiz of New York in the ninth round of their 15-round championship bout at the Cow Palace in San Francisco, Wednesday night. Ortiz retained his title by a split decision.

Next Wednesday's Games: Valley Ready vs. Sammy's Place. Mullin's vs. One Hour. Bleier's vs. Pond's. Dugout vs. Riverside.

Pond's pulled into undisputed first place in the Classic Softball league Wednesday night with a 11-4 romp over Riverside Paper.

A spotlight battle between unbeaten Bleier's and Sammy's Pizza (3-1) was postponed. In other games, One Hour Martinizing posted its first league win, edging Colar's Dugout, 6-5, and Mullin's Bar posted its initial win with a 17-8 verdict over Valley Ready Mix.

Hit 4 Homers

Four homers, two by Don Hawkins, paced the victory by Pond's. Bud Koehnke and Mickey McGuire also poked circuit blows. Hawkins' second blast landed on the Erb park pool better than 260 feet from the plate.

Lee Shebliske and Tom

Grishaber homered for Riverside.

Bob Diener was the winning hurler and Norm McIntyre took the loss.

One-Hour Martinizing trailed 4-2 going into the fourth when the winners opened up by scoring single tallies in the fourth and fifth and added a pair in the sixth to move into the lead.

The Dugout managed one run in the last inning but the rally fell short. Hank Hupfaut was the winning pitcher. Vern Kroll was charged with the loss.

Priebe Homers

Mullin's had little trouble getting by Valley Ready Mix as the winners posted 11 hits and took advantage of walks and errors in the 17-run romp.

Carl Schoettler was the leading hitter for Mullin's with three for four, and Ken Priebe had a homer.

School Faculty for Next Year Completed

Class Periods Extended, Number of Days Increased for the 1960-61 School Term

Kaukauna — Julian Bichler, has been hired as a part-time English teacher. She has a B. A. degree from Lawrence college and in 1956-57 was a part-time general business teacher at Kaukauna. For the past two years she has served as substitute English teacher for the school.

Enrollment in the high school for the coming year is 155 compared to 153 enrolled this year, according to Bichler.

Longer Days — In line with incremental changes for teachers, approved Tuesday by the board of education, Bichler announced teachers would be spending an extra five days each year in the school program, three for faculty curriculum study and two extra teaching days. Formerly the school year was 178 days and in 1960-61 it will be 183 days.

Seventeen minutes have been added to the school day for the coming year at the high school. Formerly there were six periods of 53 minutes each and one 20-minute homeroom period. Starting this fall there will be six 55-minute periods and a 25-minute homeroom.

Afternoon kindergarten classes in fall will be 15 minutes longer, thus matching the two and one-half hours spent by children attending primary kindergarten. Primary grades, first, second and third, will continue to have a 5-hour class day while students in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades will continue with a 5½-hour day.

Fifteen minutes have been added to the day for seventh and eighth graders thus making the school day six hours.

New teachers just placed under contract are Paul Kulas who will replace Ralph Karst as English teacher in the high school. Karst has accepted a position as a teacher at the University of Wisconsin. Kulas is a graduate of Marquette university and is working on a M. A. degree at the University of Wisconsin. Born in Milwaukee, he has taught 1-year at Boscobel.

Other New Teachers — Miss Mary Jane Bumby has been hired to teach English, biology and science and is an addition to the staff. She is a graduate of Ripon college and is a beginning teacher after five years as a biology lab technician for Lakeside Laboratories, Milwaukee. She has one year of education beyond the B. A. degree from which she graduated this June.

A third new teacher is Miss Mary Bins who will teach first grade at Nicolet. She is a June graduate of St. Norbert's college with a B. S. degree and her home is in Marinette.

Study Tells Of Vacations In Wisconsin

Madison — A University of Wisconsin study shows 60 per cent of Wisconsin's 4 million residents took vacation trips last year and that half the number chose points of interest within the state.

Gov. Gaylord Nelson, in discussing results of the study today, said the figures "show how important our own residents are to the tourist trade."

The study is the fifth in a series being prepared by Prof. I. V. Fine and E. W. Werner of the UW Commerce school.

Nelson said a breakdown of all pleasure trips made in the state last year showed Wisconsin residents accounted for 47 per cent of the total. Illinois ranked second with 8 per cent, and Michigan and Minnesota followed with 6 per cent each.

15 Teachers Receive Civil Defense Training

Post-Crescent News Service

Oconto Falls — Fifteen high school teachers from eight counties spent two days here taking an intensive civil defense course.

At the close today, the 15 were qualified to serve as civil defense instructors in their own counties. It is expected they will be available for local training meetings next fall.

Second of Seven

The session was the second of seven scheduled throughout the state by the Wisconsin bureau of civil defense. Door, Kewaunee, Marinette, Oconto, Outagamie, Shawano and Waupaca counties, which make up the northeast reception area, and Brown county, in which is the Green Bay target area, were represented. Meeting at Oconto Falls High school, the teachers were welcomed Wednesday morning by E. J. Shellman, Oconto county civil defense director. He hoped the training course would result in a greater interest in civil defense.

The instructors were Richard V. Anderson, of the Gillett High school faculty, and

W. J. Ewald, Madison, state training officer for civil defense.

The role of civil defense and national survival, and the effects of nuclear, chemical and biological weapons were described.

Although military attack disasters were of foremost interest, natural disasters such as tornadoes and earthquakes also were discussed. Government emergencies were on the agenda today.

Two Teachers

"The purpose of these training courses," Ewald stated, "is to provide at least two qualified civil defense instructors in each county. More than 30,000 Wisconsin citizens completed various civil defense courses in 1959," he added. "It is hoped the number will be even greater this year."

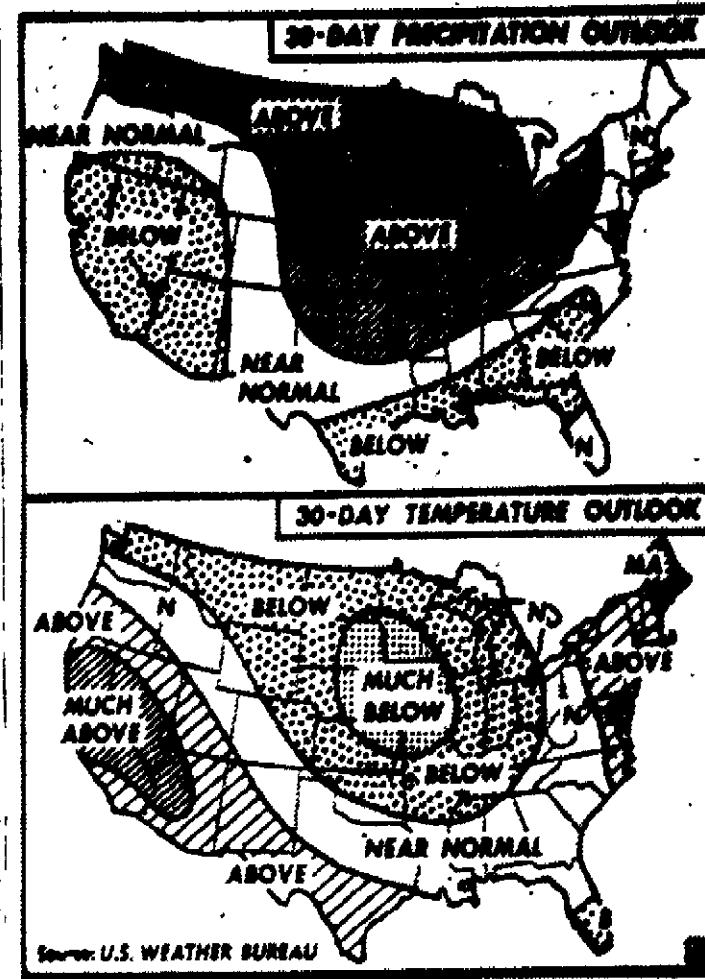

Rural Letter Carriers Against Papers in Box

Wisconsin Rapids — The Wisconsin Rural Letter Carriers association Wednesday adopted a resolution opposing a rule of the post office department permitting use of rural mail boxes for newspaper deliveries on Sunday. The group asked that publishers of Sunday papers be required to furnish their own tubes, as is done by weekday papers.

Delegates wound up a 3-day convention by electing Melvin Lemke, Bowler, president.

Heads State Unit

Madison — Dr. G. G. Shields, district health officer from Wisconsin Rapids, was elected president of the Wisconsin Association for Public Health Wednesday.

These Maps, Based on Those released today by the U. S. weather bureau, show the expected temperatures and precipitation for the nation in the next 30 days. Cooler than usual summer temperatures are in store for much of the nation except for the northwest and southwest. Precipitation above normal is foreseen for the area between the Appalachians and the continental divide, as well as the Pacific northwest.

Action Taken Against Texaco Gasoline Firm

Madison — The attorney general's office has taken court action against Texaco, Inc., charging the firm with using unfair trade practices in selling gasoline at wholesale in Milwaukee. Atty. Gen. John Reynolds contends Texaco has granted an aid allowance to some dealers to help them fight price wars, has denied the same allowance to their competitors.

He said he has charged Texaco with violating two state administrative code sections—one prohibiting discriminatory arrangements where the effect may be to "substantially lessen" competition, the other forbidding discrimination in prices in the sale of gasoline at wholesale.

Rain, Thunder Roll Into Area: Mercury Falls

A line of thunderstorms powered by strong winds moved into the midwest and Fox Cities area today.

Tumbling piles of thunderheads could be seen hanging in the southeast and south at sunset Wednesday. Rainfall up to midnight Wednesday was .09 of an inch. From midnight to 10:45 a. m. today .39 of an inch of rain fell.

No damage was reported because of the rain. High winds, falling temperatures and more rain are expected today and Friday.

Northwest Missouri and eastern Kansas were particularly in the line of bad weather, the Chicago weather bureau reported. The bureau forecast winds of up to 65 miles an hour for the area.

The storms evidently peeled off a seige of foul weather that raked parts of the Midwest Wednesday night. Tornadoes, real and unconfirmed, hit Nebraska and Michigan; winds up to 80 m.p.h. hit some communities along with heavy rain and hail.

One man was killed and three others injured east of Holdrege, Neb., when a tornado toppled a granary.
